TRY TO TRACE ACCOMPLICES IN KIDNAPPING

Progress Indicated Toward Further Arrests Expected in Lindbergh Case

WITNESS REFERS TO MYSTERIOUS JOHN

(Copyright, 1934, by the Associated Press)
NEW YORK, Sept. 27. — From Colonel Charles A. Lindbergh's memory of the ransom rendezvous and the recollections of a feminine swimming champion of Bruno Richard Hauptmann, the authorities strove tonight to trace accomplices they believe Hauptmann had in the stealing and slaying of the aviator's baby boy.

Increasing signs of a police conviction that several persons participated in the kidnapping were manifested as Colonel Lindbergh, his identity disguised, personally confronted Hauptmann in the office of the Bronx district attorney.

INDICATES PROGRESS

J. Edgar Hoover, of the United States Department of Justice, has indicated progress toward further arrests. Other authorities declined to discuss this phase of the inquiry.

For a short time late in the afternoon, a new clue appeared in a report by Mrs. Katherine Maurer, of the Bronx, that her husband, John Maurer, had disappeared.

This was somewhat discounted when Mrs. Maurer returned to her home from the prosecutor's office, saying that it was "purely a domestic matter," and that neither she nor her husband knew Hauptmann.

Colonel H. Norman Schwarzkopf, superintendent of New Jersey State Police, remarked that Harry Uhlig and Isadore Fisch, both friends of Hauptmann, had been customers at a store where the Maurers worked.

The name "John" has bobbed up again and again in the two-year-old quest for the baby's kidnappers, for that was the name by which Dr. John F. Condon, the internist who knew the man to whom he paid a $50,000 ransom.

VACATION ASSOCIATES

An attractive vacation associate of Hauptmann's in 1932, Anita Lutzberg was questioned for several hours, today, about the summer swimming party which numbered several others. This was while Mrs. Hauptmann was abroad.

A friend of the girl, John Braue, appeared briefly at the prosecutor's office and then went home. He said that he knew Hauptmann.

NEAR COLLISION WITH METEOR

Pilot Swerves Airliner in Effort to Dodge Blazing Body

OAKLAND, Cal., Sept. 27 (AP).—A big air liner and a dazzling meteor flashed through the skies dangerously close to each other, east of here, this morning, giving the thirteen persons in the plane a lifetime thrill.

So close did the meteor come to the plane that Arch E. Anderson, co-pilot, who was at the controls, swerved the ship in what he thought would be an effort to dodge the flaming visitor.

Some of the passengers saw the blinding light and cried out in astonishment. Anderson said it would do good to attempt dodging a body moving so rapidly and flipped the plane back to its course.

The meteor exploded apparently, only a few hundred yards ahead of the plane, and the transcontinental air liner, westbound from Reno, continued on to Oakland unscathed.

A DAZZLING LIGHT

Anderson said the plane was 7,000 feet up when he saw a great dazzling light heading toward the craft.

"For a split second," he said, "I was puzzled, then I realized that it must be a meteor."

Relax in Ancient Vehicle

Experts on modern high speed highways and motor traffic congestion in conference at Manor Richieu, Quebec enjoy the contrast of an old-time Victoria. Left to right: Hon. J. E. Perrault, Minister of Highways (standing); Hon. Frank McPherson, British Columbia, and Hon. A. S. MacMillan, Nova Scotia; Hon. G. S. Sharp, P.E.I., and the Lieutenant-Governor of Quebec, Hon. E. L. Patenaude, with his aide, Colonel Papineau (standing).

Constitution Will Be Under Review By the Provinces

Premiers to Attend Conference With Prime Minister R. B. Bennett Probably in November—Approval of Amendments and Also of Canadian Method of Amendment to Be Sought

OTTAWA, Sept. 27 (CP).—The British North America Act, that aged document which at once binds together the provinces of Canada in one vast national unit, yet stands as a bulwark of protection of peculiar provincial rights, will be the bone of contention at a momentous conference in Ottawa, probably in November.

While the date of the conference is no nearer fixed than when Prime Minister R. B. Bennett sent out the call to the provincial premiers the first of this month, most of the provinces have signified their willingness to attend. Their comments or suggestions on the proposed amendments to the constitution have yet to be made, but will probably be ready by the end of the month.

TO YIELD CONTROL

It is proposed to have the provinces yield to Federal Government control exclusive jurisdiction with respect to such social matters as unemployment, insurance, hours of labor and minimum wages, certain forms of taxation, company laws and possibly trade regulations involving private property.

The British North America Act which brought the first three provinces into one Canadian confederation in 1867, made no provision for post.

STORM IN EAST BRINGS DEATH

Wind and Rain Sweep Eastern Quebec—Property Damage Heavy

MONTREAL, Sept. 27 (CP).—A severe wind and rain storm swept Eastern Quebec today, leaving two deaths and heavy property damage in its wake. In Quebec, Lina Maguire, twelve, was electrocuted by touching a high-tension wire, leveled by the squall-like wind. H. Ferland, forty-five, a stevedore, was killed in Montreal when he was hurled fifty feet to the bottom of the hold of the Duchess of Richmond, when a gust of wind broke the rope of a canvas canopy, whipped around his legs and dragged him to the open hatch.

Giant trees were felled in the cities and surroundings, and telegraph and telephone poles snapped. Two valuable yachts were tossed from their moorings and carried out into Lake St. Louis. One of them, owned by Alderman Allan Bray, of Montreal, was saved in the nick of time, as the wind was carrying it down the direction of the Lachine Canal.

FIRES IN OBSERVATORY

MONTREAL, Sept. 27 (CP).—Fire broke out in McGill Observatory here today. Details were not at once available, but the presence in the building of valuable telescopes and other scientific instruments made it probable that damage would be extensive if the flames spread.

Typhoon's Toll Finally Listed

TOKIO, Sept. 27 (CP-Havas).—The Japanese Diet will be called into session late next month to vote funds for the rebuilding of the area devastated by the recent typhoon. Final and official lists of the typhoon's toll showed 2,523 dead, including 1,635 in Osaka; 12,184 injured, including 8,677 in Osaka, and 656 missing.

Report Probable Loss of Vessel In the North Sea

HAMBURG, Germany, Sept. 27 (CP-Havas).—Captain and crew of a Hamburg fishing boat brought back a story today of a mysterious ship explosion. They were cruising in the North Sea when they heard a loud explosion and saw a puff of smoke on the horizon. They found floating bits of wreckage, and part of what seemed like a ship's cargo. A search for survivors was fruitless, the captain said.

PORT POLICE TAKEN OVER

Elected Commission Deprived of Authority in Sudden Move

PORT ALBERT, Sept. 27.—"This is to advise that under Section 382 of the Municipal Act the Provincial Police are taking over the policing of the City of Port Albert for one year from the date hereof."

This surprising telegram was received late on Wednesday night from the Attorney General, by Mayor D. Warnock, chairman of the local police commission. Identically worded telegrams were received by Chief of Police Davey and Secretary H. Bradley of the police commission.

Interviewed here this evening, none of the police commissioners could give any reason for such a drastic step. The chief topic of conversation on the streets here today, was the action of the Provincial Police in taking control out of the hands of the city's commission.

GIVEN INSTRUCTIONS

Sergeant Russell, in charge of the Provincial Police in Nanaimo, arrived in the city about midnight, on Wednesday, and immediately took touch with the city police and gave them instructions as to their duties.

It is understood that the local police have not been sworn in as provincial constables, but will carry on under the jurisdiction of the superintendent of Provincial Police, taking their instructions from Sergeant Dunbar, in charge of the Provincial Police in the city of Albert, and will no longer take instructions from the local commission.

The uniforms of the Provincial Police were seen on the streets here today.

A meeting of the police commission was held on Wednesday.

Coal Strike Is Averted in South Wales

LONDON, Sept. 27 (AP).—A threatened strike involving 100,000 miners in the collieries of South Wales, was believed averted tonight as miners and mine operators reached an agreement.

An official announcement said that representatives of the miners and their employers, summoned to London for conference by Minister of Mines Ernest Brown, had come to an agreement, which would be submitted for the approval of the bodies concerned.

Approval of the accord would put an end to the threat of a strike, which was tentatively set to begin on October 1.

Roosevelt Appoints Two Boards to Take Charge of NRA Plan

Group of Six Given Task of Framing Future Policies for Government's Relation to Business—Other Body to Administer Law

WASHINGTON, Sept. 27 (AP).—A two-board command tonight was placed by President Roosevelt over the NRA, that Hugh S. Johnson once dominated single-handedly. One committee of six administration officials were selected to act under the direction of Donald R. Richberg in performing the vital task of framing future policies for Government's relation to business.

A second, composed of two industrialists, two labor experts and a college professor, was named to administer, under my direction," the industrial recovery law.

ISSUES TWO ORDERS

The White House announcement revolutionizing the NRA of yesterday was made in two executive orders. One created the "National Industrial Recovery Board," the administrative agency of the future. The other order revamped the already existing industrial emergency committee to include Secretary of the Interior Harold Ickes, Secretary of Labor Frances Perkins, Chester Davis, agricultural adjustment administrator; the chairman to be selected by the new National Industrial Recovery Board; Harry Hopkins, relief administrator; and Richberg.

DUTIES ARE SPECIFIED

These six were given the following duties:

(1) To make recommendations to the President through its director with respect to problems of relief, public works, labor disputes and industrial recovery, together with allied problems of agricultural recovery.

International Amity Is Canada's Object Announces Premier

Hon. R. B. Bennett Makes
Plea for International Peace at Paris Banquet

REFUSAL TO INFLATE
CAUSES OPPOSITION

PARIS, Sept. 27 (CP-Cable).—Prime Minister R. B. Bennett, speaking at a banquet in his honor at the Inter-Allied Club here tonight, made an impassioned plea for international peace and friendship.

"When Canadians traversed the seas to maintain peace," he told the 150 diplomats and prominent Frenchmen gathered at the banquet, they believed it would come again.

"Canadians know how earnestly France has striven for peace," he said. "In these days of rapid communications, the repercussions of what takes place in France today are felt in Canada tomorrow."

Pierre-Elie Flandin, Minister of Public Works in the Doumergue Cabinet, proposed the Canadian Premier's health and acknowledged Canada's hospitality at her recent Jacques Cartier quinquennial celebration. Flandin headed the French delegation to the celebration.

LASTING IMPRESSION

Recollections of that event, Flandin said, constituted "a souvenir not easily forgotten."

Introduced by Hon. Philippe Roy, Canadian Minister in Paris, the Premier took occasion to make smiling reference to politics at home.

He said he hoped the guests would not consider him too great a man "as the by-elections at home indicate I am not."

SETS STOCK SALES RULES

United States Margin Requirements Fixed at Between 25 and 45%

WASHINGTON, Sept. 27 (AP).—The Federal Reserve Board, after weeks of discussion, today fixed United States stock exchange margin requirements at from 25 to 45 per cent of a security's current value, following to the letter the "standard" suggested in the Securities Exchange Act, passed by the last Congress.

Although the average margin required by the board would figure about 26 per cent, as compared with approximately 25 per cent now required by the New York Stock Exchange, the board is more lenient than the exchange itself with regard to small accounts.

MARGIN MINIMUMS

The regulations authorize the extending of credit to the extent of 55 per cent of the current market price of a security or to the lowest price at which it has sold in the past three years, not to exceed 75 per cent of current value. Until July 1, 1936, however, the low since July 1, 1933, will be taken when the low price calculation is used.

Skipper Harold S. Vanderbilt, of the Rainbow, Successful America's Cup Defender, and Skipper T. O. M. Sopwith, of Endeavour, the British Challenger, at End of Series.

ST. JOHN'S, Nfld., Sept. 27 (CP).—Britain's Prime Minister, J. Ramsay MacDonald, broke his long silence tonight as he concluded his summer vacation in Newfoundland and Maritime Canada, and declared there were "no quick remedies and no magic cures" for the world economic upheaval.

Honest work and detailed planning were required, the British statesman declared, "and behind those responsible for government must be well-instructed opinion with good judgment."

REAPING REWARD

"Such is the idea guiding us at home," he continued, "and we are beginning to reap our reward. It should make all members of the Commonwealth proud of what it is doing and of the honor and influence which are in consequence being given to it throughout the world."

"To help on that work, I return tomorrow," Premier MacDonald said. Newfoundland would now be much more than a name to him, he told his listeners.

Reciprocal Pact Petition Arouses Active Interest

Officials at Ottawa Believe Agreement Could Be Reached on Fish, Lumber, Minerals and Livestock—Awaiting Action of President of Chambers Suggestions

OTTAWA, Sept. 27 (CP).—While withholding any comment, Government officials here are keenly interested in the move of the United States Chamber of Commerce, today, to induce the Government of that country to open reciprocal trade negotiations with Canada.

For several years the recorded policy of the present Government has been one of readiness to deal with the United States on a reciprocal basis providing it can be done with no discrimination against Canadian producers. It is believed that agreement could be reached on a number of commodities including fish, lumber, minerals and certain grades of livestock.

Similar resolutions to that of the United States Chamber of Commerce have been adopted by important Canadian bodies including the Canadian Chamber of Commerce at its last annual convention.

The Canadian Government would be glad to open negotiations at any time the United States made an overture, it is learned.

URGES NEGOTIATIONS

WASHINGTON, Sept. 27 (AP).—Secretary of State Cordell Hull was urged today by Henry I. Harriman, president of the Chamber of Commerce of the United States, to open reciprocal tariff negotiations with Canada at the earliest possible moment.

Harriman, in a letter to Hull, said businessmen of both countries were in favor of working out a reciprocal trade agreement. He said a joint committee, maintained by American and Canadian Chambers, had recommended such a course.

Liberal Leader Sailing For Europe on Saturday

OTTAWA, Sept. 27 (CP).—Rt. Hon. W. L. Mackenzie King and Hon. Ernest Lapointe will sail for the United Kingdom on Saturday, from Quebec. Mr. King made the announcement tonight.

"Canadian affairs are increasingly bound up in world affairs, and we are anxious to get first-hand information as to conditions in Britain and in Europe," Mr. King explained. "It is doubtful if there will be another opportunity, for some time to come, to make such a visit."

The trip will be of a private nature, but Mr. King hopes to obtain the views of the better-informed people in the United Kingdom and in countries on the Continent as to possibilities for trade expansion. Mr. King will be absent for a month or six weeks.

YOUTH HELD FOR ROBBERY IN UPLANDS

Gordon Garrett Arrested by City Police — Missing Jewelry Recovered

COUPLE THREATENED
BY TWO ARMED MEN

Gordon Garrett, twenty-year-old Victoria youth, alleged gunman who terrified Miss Lily Cronk and her companion, Howard Cummins, at the point of a revolver at the MacGachen home in the Uplands Wednesday night, was lodged in a cell of the city police station last night following his arrest early this morning by Detectives Stark and Cremer, of the city police detective department.

Young Garrett stubbornly refused to reveal the name of his alleged companion in the robbery of the MacGachen residence on Lansdowne Road. When taken by the detectives he was said to be in the possession of a revolver. Police stated there were no shells either in the gun or on Garrett's person.

JEWELRY IS FOUND

Besides the gun, believed to be the one used to threaten Miss Cronk and Mr. Cummins when they interrupted an armed pair at the door of the MacGachen home, the detectives found a number of rings, brooches and other articles of jewelry supposed to have been taken at the time of the robbery.

The arrest of young Garrett ends the first stage of a twenty-eight-hour search by Victoria and Oak Bay police and, it is possible that a second arrest may be made shortly, detectives stated. It is further stated that Garrett answers the description of one of the men involved in the robbery and subsequent gun play.

THREATENED BY THUGS

Shortly before 8 o'clock on Wednesday evening Miss Lily Cronk and Mr. Cummins called at the MacGachen home, and after knocking on the door were confronted by two men, one of whom held a revolver, just inside the front entrance. The man with the revolver threatened to shoot if either attempted to make a break or later inform the police. Demanding that the two stand with their hands up, the burglars made off in the darkness and it was supposed they escaped in a waiting automobile.

Garrett, headquarters reported, would be turned over to the Oak Bay police this morning.

OUTLOOK TAKES BRIGHTER TINGE

Three Great Powers Recognize Necessity of Austrian Independence

GENEVA, Sept. 27 (CP).—The confused European political situation had a brighter tinge, tonight, following an important joint-announcement by Britain, France and Italy, reaffirming their February declaration recognizing the necessity of maintaining Austrian independence.

During the sessions of the league council, Austrian representatives, backed by France, were busy behind the scenes endeavoring to line up the three Great Powers in a stronger guarantee of Austria's integrity, but met with the firm British declaration that the United Kingdom is unwilling to undertake further commitments on the continent of Europe.

AGREE TO DECLARATION

A modified declaration was drawn up by the French, and, after special representations by Louis Barthou, French Foreign Minister, the British agreed to it.

M. Barthou expressed great satisfaction with the British agreement. Apart altogether from their disavowal to assume new commitments the British were understood to feel that a more rigid guarantee would evoke dissatisfaction among a section of Austrian opinion, as well as perhaps provoking suspicion in Germany itself.

Conservatives Are Urged to Restore Party Confidence

D. B. Plunkett, M.P., and Reginald Hayward Address Well-Attended Meeting Held Under the Auspices of Victoria Women's Association

A SPIRITEDLY loyal defence of the Hon. R. B. Bennett and the Federal Government policies and achievements on the one side; and, on the other, a spirited challenge to the Conservatives of British Columbia, particularly in Victoria, to bestir themselves and do something to restore the name and fame of the old party, formed the backbone of the rousing addresses given by the Hon. D. B. Plunkett, Federal Member of Parliament for Victoria, and Reginald Hayward, former Conservative member for Victoria in the Provincial Government, at the well-attended meeting held in the Conservative Clubrooms, last night, under the auspices of the Conservative Women's Association.

Mrs. K. Palmer, the president, was in the chair, and Hugh Allen, president of the Victoria Conservative Association, was welcomed and occupied a seat on the platform. Mr. Plunkett, who announced that he was reserving his major statement for the annual meeting, next month, nevertheless touched some very salient points in summarizing the achievements of the present Bennett Government at Ottawa. For instance, over $80,000,000 had been saved in controllable expenditures alone by the Conservative Government now in power. The Tourist Department, a new department inaugurated and controlled by the Hon. Robert J. Manion, Minister of Railways and Canals, was already issuing literature and advertising to

Military Head Here For Inspection

MAJOR-GEN. McNAUGHTON

WHO is in Victoria on his annual tour of inspection as chief of the general staff of the military branch, Department of National Defence, at Ottawa, is accompanied by Major G. R. Turner, and they will stay at the Empress Hotel until their departure in a few days. General McNaughton, after completing a tour of Work Point Barracks and consulting with Major-General E. C. Ashton, said he was well satisfied with the efficiency of the force here. No developments regarding the local military force were being considered at present, he said.

advantageous points where it would be available for tourists. This should be of special practical interest to British Columbia, a province abounding in magnificent natural scenery and other attractions to tourists.

FOREIGN MARKETS

Quoting from the report of the president of the British Columbia Lumber & Shingle Manufacturers Association, Mr. Plunkett gave statistics that showed some of the advantages that had accrued to British Columbia through the enterprise of the British Columbia Conservative Association, coupled with the assistance of the Federal Government, in the matter of tariff preferences, subsidized shipping services, and financial assistance. "Such means foreign markets in lumber had been increased from 160,000,000 feet in 1929 to 426,000,000 feet in 1933. Exports of lumber to China had increased from 53,000,000 feet in 1932 to 130,000,000 feet in 1933.

"Yet," said Mr. Plunkett, "during the regime of the Liberal Government the markets of the world were closed against us. For example, in 1922 wheat was free in Germany, and in April, 1930, the duty was 98 cents a bushel. In 1922 there was no duty on wheat flour into Germany, but in April, 1930, there was a duty of $3.40 per hundredweight. Oats ranged from free to 44 cents per bushel; butter from free to $5.50 per hundredweight; cattle from free to $2.90 per hundredweight.

MR. KING'S TIMIDITY

Mr. Plunkett emphasized that more credit should be given Mr. Bennett for the position of Canada today and her relative economic soundness. Mackenzie King had given no assistance in the matter of supporting the Empire Trade Agreements, and stated that if he were returned to office his Government would not consider these agreements binding. In other words, he had always been very fearful of Canada asserting her position.

Exports to Empire countries were cited by the speaker as having been increased during 1933 from $217,000,000 to $254,000,000. The Empire trade agreements had definitely benefited the lumber trade.

SWING TRADE BALANCE

It was shown, too, that an unfavorable trade balance of $110,000,000 in 1930 had been turned by Canada, under the Bennett Government, to a favorable balance of $134,000,000 in 1933, an improvement of $24,000,000. British Columbia had greatly increased export of her products during this time, lumber products in themselves increasing by $4,000,000; mines by $2,000,000, and fisheries $1,000,000, while industrial payrolls increased $7,000,000.

"Yet no credit is given for these things; nothing but subtle criticism," said Mr. Plunkett. In the course of his address he touched on a number of other matters, including the "senseless competition between the two great national railways," and the need of reduced transportation rates that would make Western products available in the Eastern market, where British Columbia strawberries, asparagus, cantaloupes and apples were being asked for.

WANTS BENNETT BACK

Mr. Hayward, too, was strongly in favor of Canada's giving continued support to Mr. Bennett and his party. But he also urged that, in the meantime, provincial matters should not be neglected, and an energetic campaign started to revive the spirit and enthusiasm of the old Conservative party. There should now be brought into operation a kind of party N.R.A., or "Conservative Recovery Act," as it was all too apparent that there had been no action on the part of the party to reorganize, since the defeat at the polls last year. The name should be revived and given some publicity by holding ward meetings, socials, education groups, he said.

The Liberals, who, said the speaker, had swept into power last year with the support of the Conservative vote, were not nearly so popular today, and would almost certainly lose to the C.C.F. in an election next year, for instance. From all sections of the province one heard that dissatisfaction against the Government was rife, one of the chief reasons for this being that the Liberals had made too many and too sanguine pre-election promises. Such tactics inevitably made bad friends for a party once it got into power. Mr. Plunkett's chief pre-election cry was "Work and Wages," but one heard little about either now. Evidently, Mr. Hayward said, they had been expecting the Conservative Government at Ottawa to supply both the work and the wages.

LIBERAL EXTRAVAGANCE

Stinging criticism was made of the alleged "See-Canada first tour" enjoyed by Mr. Pattullo and the members of his Government. "Too many people are going on these tours to Ottawa," said Mr. Hayward. "Nobody can see why it should be necessary for practically the whole Cabinet, secretaries and all, to take these trips. It is a shame and a scandal for the people of British Columbia to have to carry all that expense, and the taxpayers are justified in feeling very sore about it. During the last Conservative regime there were a lot of imports for unemployment and some extravaganzas, although some of these expenditures, involving millions of money, were demanded by the people."

Figures were not available of the actual cost of these missions, and "see Canada first tours" to Ottawa. The figures would not be available, the speaker prophesied, until the Liberals went out of power in British Columbia. But an idea of the cost might be gathered, he said, from the figures available from trips taken by Mr. Pattullo during the previous Liberal regime, when he was Minister of Lands, his traveling expenses for that time amounting to more than $34,000.

Both speakers were very cordially thanked by the president. After the formal meeting, refreshments were served by a committee of ladies, convened by Mrs. Rolston, and dancing concluded the evening.

TRYING TO TRACE HIS ACCOMPLICES

"fairly well," having met him in July, 1932.

Hauptmann was walking with a limp at that time, Braue said, but had explained that he had "varicose veins" when friends asked whether he had been injured.

"Hauptmann never did have any doubt," Braue said of the suspect's "varicose veins," asserting that Hauptmann described himself as a carpenter who worked "here and there."

When a morning of examination had ended at the district attorney's office, the importance of Miss Lutzenberg's questions and that of other Hauptmann acquaintances was minimized by attacks, but it was regarded as significant that Miss Lutzenberg returned after lunch.

ALL LIKED HIM

"We always called him Dick," Miss Lutzenberg had said of Hauptmann as a detective studied picture of her and the prisoner in a family album. "Everybody knew him that Summer at Hunter's Island. All the girls liked him."

But in the party—she said—was a "varicose vein" man who seemed to have something on his mind. John, she said, was "Dick's" closest friend, and Dick was the only friend John had.

This keen attention to possible Hauptmann accomplices came during an afternoon in which Hauptmann himself voiced the belief that it was possible Hauptmann "could have been the man who went up the ladder" to the Lindbergh nursery to see the baby.

LINDBERGH SEES PRISONER

The Bronx district attorney's office was carefully set this morning for Colonel Lindbergh to scrutinize Hauptmann without the German knowing of the presence of the father of the slain child.

Lindbergh caught a glimpse of one man when the ransom was being paid. Lindbergh did not speak while Hauptmann was in the room.

FUNERAL SERVICE HELD

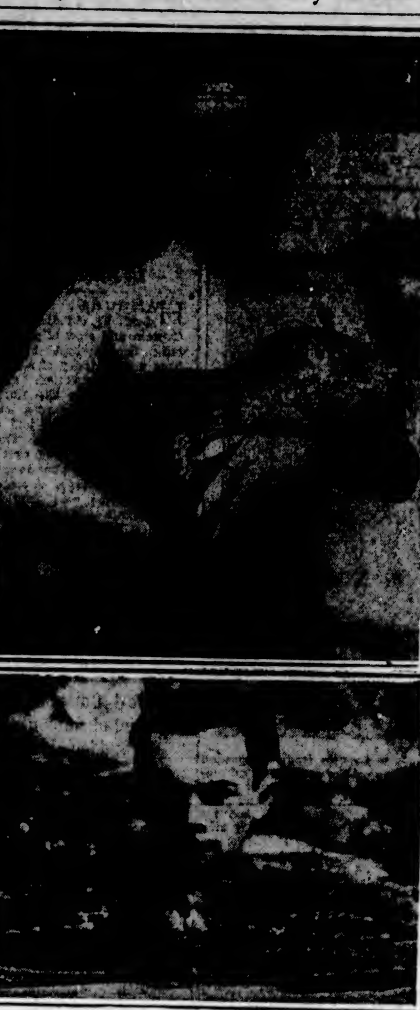

Funeral services for the late Mrs. Albert Herrington took place yesterday afternoon, Rev. A. de B. Owen officiating in the presence of many friends, during which the hymns "Peace, Perfect Peace," and "Able With Me," were sung. The casket was covered with beautiful floral tributes. The remains were forwarded to Vancouver for cremation.

Pile Sufferers

Can You Answer These Questions?
Do you know why external remedies as applied to sore and painful piles are only a makeshift and do not reach to true circulatory cause?
Why Piles may "come back" even after a first removal by cutting?
Do you know the cause of Piles is internal?

That there is congestion of blood in the lower bowel—the veins flabby, the parts lifeless—Do you know that there is a harmless internal remedy for itching, bleeding or protruding piles discovered by Dr. Leonhardt, known as HEM-ROID and so forth with your money back if not joyfully satisfied with the help one bottle gives?
HEM-ROID banishes piles by relieving congested circulation and helps to heal and restore the sore surface.
HEM-ROID is so successful in even the most stubborn cases that McFarlane and Vancouver Drug Stores and other good druggists advise every sufferer to get a bottle of HEM-ROID. Today—take them as directed—then if not completely satisfied with results—your money back.

Board officials said two out of three stocks, due to the relatively slight fluctuations over the past few months, could be carried on a 25 per cent margin. One out of four would be somewhere in the 25-45 range, and one out of twelve would require the putting up of 45 per cent.

EFFECTIVE OCTOBER 15

Coincident with release of the thirty-six-page document embodying the long-awaited rules to curb excessive use of credit in stock speculation, the board announced that the Federal Securities and Exchange Commission had postponed their effective date from October 1 until October 15, in order that stock buyers and the financial community might have more time to digest them.

Carefully avoiding any "crack-down" attitude that might disturb the markets, now at a low ebb, the board left the settlement of various questions largely with the business conduct committees of the various exchanges. Included in this category was the temporary handling of under-margined accounts.

The new rules, the board said, will put only 2 per cent of existing accounts in the under-margined class. Such accounts, as well as others now under-margined according to Stock Exchange rules, will not be "sold out" unless the broker concerned feels it necessary.

They will be placed in a restricted class, however, with all transactions barred that would increase the amount owed to the broker, except where they would raise the margin to the required point.

AMITY IS CANADA'S AIM, SAYS PREMIER

"Naturally when a government has not yielded to inflation it does not receive the plaudits of the people," the Premier said. "But there are signs of improvement now. 'Owing to the gold mines and productivity of land and forests the Canadian dollar is worth more than the American one.'"

The Premier said he would always remember the reception given him in Paris.

FRIENDLY SPIRIT

"If at any time," he added, "we feel our policy runs against that enunciated over here, at any rate we will not forget who are our neighbors. It is with this spirit of neighborly feeling that Canada is laying the foundation for a great national Christian civilization with liberty of worship and work as desired."

The Premier invited French capital to Canada, asserting, "It will always be welcome and I believe will receive a fair return."

During the afternoon, President Gaston Doumergue received the Canadian Prime Minister, who spent most of the day in conference with the Canadian legation and the French Ministry, discussing a pro-

SIX HELD ON HOLD-UP CHARGE

Two of Alleged Bandit Gang Suspected of Vancouver Bank Robbery

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 27 (AP).—A Federal complaint charging them with conspiracy to rob a National Bank under the new "Dillinger Law," was filed late today against four men and two women held in connection with thirteen bank hold-ups here and nine others throughout the state, in which a total loot of $149,000 was taken.

They are specifically charged with the robbery of a Citizens National Bank here last August 6. The robbers escaped following a running gun fight with police.

The four men, held in lieu of $50,000 bonds, are: Pete Carlson, thirty-seven, whose asserted one-time companion, George Hall, is under sentence of death in Folsom prison; Isadora "Izzy" Fenton; Loeb Cossack, former San Bernardino attorney and alleged "brains" of the group; and Rudy Sugarman, liquor store operator.

WOMEN ACCUSED

The women held in lieu of $25,000 bonds, are Mrs. Betty Lane, said to be Carlson's wife, and Mrs. Suale McElroy, Cossack's stenographer. Carlson, Police Captain Harry Seager said, admitted he was obligated to his friend in Folsom, and was trying to raise money to have his death sentence commuted to life.

"I'm sorry now," Captain Seager quoted Carlson as saying, "I won't be able to fulfill that obligation."

Hall was convicted for killing an officer, near Yreka, Cal., while fleeing after a bank robbery in Canada. Carlson has steadily denied he was Carlson's companion at that time.

Captain Seager said Cossack confessed that a number of the bank hold-ups were planned in his Los Angeles office.

Carlson also is held for questioning concerning the $1,300 hold-up of a Berkeley bank last July 17, and of a $20,000 jewelry robbery in Oakland, last September 19. Cossack also is wanted in connection with an Oakland jewel robbery, Oakland authorities telegraphed police, late today.

THE BIGGEST LOCAL "JOB"

of the group, police said, was the robbery of the First National Bank of Glendora of $10,000 in cash and $100,000 in negotiable securities.

"Automatically I started to swerve the plane, then realized it would be of no use to try to dodge anything coming so fast, so I put it back on the course."

Jack O'Brien, the pilot, was in the cabin. He said he felt the ship swerve and dove into the pilot's compartment just in time to see the meteor explode.

Professor W. F. Myer, of the astronomy department of the University of California, said the visitor evidently was a single meteor that had disintegrated when falling into the earth's atmosphere.

The astronomer explained that meteors disintegrate and burst into flame when their speed presses them vigorously through the air. Coming into contact with oxygen, they become incandescent. The chemical process reduces them and they land upon the earth in fragments, some large, some small.

OXFORD GROUPERS
WILL SPEAK HERE

Visiting Team to Be Heard in Empress Hotel Ballroom This Evening

The people of Victoria who are interested in the Oxford Group Movement are extremely fortunate in being able to hear such outstanding speakers as those who will comprise the team which will be in charge of the meeting to be held in the Empress Ballroom tonight.

The team will consist of Dr. Jack
McDermott, Rev. J. D. Hobden, A.
B. Carey, Heber Hardy, Mrs. Ella
deLong, Mrs. Libby Miller, Mrs.
Addie Willis and Miss Mary Mc-Corm.

Rev. J. D. Hobden is secretary of the John Hard Society in Vancouver, an organization for the assisting of discharged prisoners, and his witness is a most interesting one. Mrs. Libby Miller spent some time with Dr. Sam Shoemaker at Calvary House in New York, and has an up-to-the-minute message.

A cordial invitation is extended to the public.

A two-day School of Life for all people in the fellowship will be held Saturday and Sunday, commencing in Memorial Hall on Saturday morning at 9:30 o'clock. A detailed programme of the meetings will be given in Saturday's papers and at tonight's meetings. Teams will speak at various churches on Sunday.

RED CROSS HAD
BIG ACTIVITIES

Mrs. Harold Fleming Re-Elected President at Annual Meeting of Branch

MRS. HAROLD FLEMING

The annual meeting of the Victoria City and District Branch, Canadian Red Cross Society was held on Wednesday, in the headquarters, Belmont House, Mrs. Harold Fleming in the chair.

The financial report was presented by the honorary secretary-treasurer, Miss Kathleen Oldfield, and showed that receipts had been $25,128.71, and disbursements $24,357.26.

The president presented a report of the year's activities. Hospital work had been carried on as usual, patients in both hospitals had been visited and comforts provided. At Christmas time, the Christmas tree in the Fleming Ward was well laden with presents. Mrs. J. L. Grimison, hospital visitor, did the decorating as for many years past. She also visited both institutions on Christmas morning and distributed parcels to the men.

CHRISTMAS HAMPERS
Christmas hampers were supplied to families on the lists of other organizations. Families of disabled men had been visited, and necessary articles supplied. Material had been purchased and made into garments by various sewing circles. These had been distributed to families, the Spanish Welfare, and Peace River.

During the year an emergency disaster outfit was prepared under the convener'ship of Mrs. Bullock-Webster. The Jubilee Hospital kindly sterilized the dressings. Some of the small kits had been sent to outside districts where a physician might not be quickly available. The workshop was still a major activity, and was carrying on in spite of slack times, the great need being for more orders and work to keep the men employed.

TELLS OF ARTICLES
Mrs. Grimison gave a report of articles supplied to ex-service men and women. Among other things were two surgical jackets, an artificial leg, two pairs of surgical boots, surgical belt, special food for an undernourished infant supplied for some months until the child could be put on ordinary food. A vote of thanks was heartily voted to Mrs. Grimison for her untiring work in visiting these people.

The following officers were elected: President, Mrs. Harold Fleming; first vice-president, Mrs. J. L. Grimison (re-elected); second vice-president, Miss K. Oldfield, and honorary secretary-treasurer, J. U. Gordon.

WORK STARTED ON EXTENSION

Fine Sixty-Foot Highway,
With Banked Curves, Is Ultimate Object

No time has been lost in forwarding the improvements to the Johnson Street extension, it was learned yesterday. Already surfacing of the centre has been started, and the grading has been completed well over the crest of the first hill, going out from town.

There is a fine base of six-inch rock, which has been topped with four inches of crushed rock, which in turn is covered with a one-inch layer of gravel, all of which is bound together with a mixture of bituminous.

Alex Macdonald, public works superintendent, is personally supervising the work, and the improvement already has caused considerable favorable comment.

WIDE HIGHWAY
As the work is completed, the guard rails are being removed so that in place of two narrow traffic lanes, there will eventually exist a fine highway, sixty feet in width, not including the sidewalks.

The work is being done by relief labor, and will cost the city far less than was estimated when a money-by-law was turned down for the work several years ago.

The sharp curves will all have super-elevation, while the central, or new surface, is of the non-skid type, thus giving this section of the Johnson Street extension a maximum amount of safety.

Mayor May Urge
Union to Support
Rate Bureau Plan

ALDERMAN Walter Loney, chairman of the fire wardens, and Alderman Andrew McGavin have approached Mayor David Leeming, and asked him to take up at the Union of B.C. Municipalities convention the question of establishing a public rating bureau for fire insurance.

The City Council, at its last meeting, unanimously passed a motion calling upon the Provincial Legislature to provide legislation for bringing into existence a rating bureau.

type, thus giving this section of the Johnson Street extension a maximum amount of safety.

ORCHESTRA HAS GOOD PROMISE

Young String Ensemble, Directed by George Dyke, Does Good Work

Any sincere effort directed toward the elevation of musical taste and study, particularly through performance of music, is worthy of wholehearted management. George J. Dyke's string orchestra must definitely be numbered among such efforts. They gave a very encouraging performance Wednesday evening in recital at the Centennial United Church, and left everyone with the conviction that Victoria is indeed fortunate in having such an excellent string ensemble of young players.

The material presented was charming and well worth hearing, and the orchestra brought to its performance enthusiasm, consistently good string tone, most commendable intonation, a nice sense of rhythm, and a co-ordination that is increasingly better at each hearing. In fact, the programme emphasizes the fact that it is time music was placed definitely in the school curriculum, with credits, as it is obvious that boys and girls who have musical enthusiasm to such degree should be encouraged instead of discouraged in the cultivation of the art.

A TEST PIECE
Conducted by Mr. Dyke, the orchestra opened the programme with Dr. John Bull's orchestral suite, "Venus and Adonis," a Musical Festival test piece in three movements. There was a nice freedom and spontaneity about this, and subsequent numbers brought out the same qualities, also keen attack, neat phrasing, and responsiveness to the rallezando and diminuendo signs. Among the most popular of the orchestra's contributions was the Latham "Gavotte Pizzicato," which was undiluted pizzicato throughout, for all instruments. Bright, melodious, and with a happy element of surprise, it was repeated in response to insistent applause. The final number, Boyce's "Shepherd's Lottery," was also much enjoyed, particularly the tuneful prelude. Other numbers, all expressly played, were Buck's "Melody in B," Dr. Arne's "Two Dances from 'Comus,'" The Mozart "Minuet," with Miss Fay Ockenden playing the violin solo with orchestra, showed the charming talent of one of the city's younger violinists, and also revealed the orchestra in its role which is very nicely filled. The immediately preceding number used them in similar capacity for the much-enjoyed violin and 'cello duet by Leslie Jordan and Carl Benn, the number being Foulds' "Darby and Joan."

THREE BRITONS
In the course of the evening Mr. Dyke explained that he had attempted in the programme to give a little publicity to the fact that before the classical triumvirate of "B's" (Bach, Beethoven and Brahms) there had been three English "B's", Blow, Bull and Boyce, two of whom were represented in the compositions played by the orchestra.

The guest-artist was Mrs. Norma Smyth, soprano, who although just recovered from illness, sang with a voice of easy and pleasing quality. "Bach's" "Of Flowers the Fairest," Cyril Scott's "The Unforeseen," Brahms' "The Serenade," Berlioz' "Absence," Bantock's quaint "Yung Yang," Elgar's "Pleading," and a final group including the interesting Campbell "Had I the Voice of Heaven," which was followed by a coquettish little encore called "Another Little Song."

Edward Parsons played the accompaniments apply and artistically.

EXPRESS PLEASURE
OVER HIGH SUCCESS
OF STUDENTS' WORK

Members of the Esquimalt School board last night voiced their pleasure over the number of children from the municipality who had won prizes with their school exhibits at the Willows Exhibition.

The trustees granted a request from the High School Dramatic Club that the society be permitted to hold its annual Christmas concert. Thirty students are members of this club, it was noted.

Two little boys stood admiring a mechanical bird which filled a toy shop with sweet melody. "My word, I'd like to have that," exclaimed one.

"But the price is ten guineas," the other replied.

"I know," said the first boy, "but look how much you'd save on bird seed!"

ADVISES MORE WORK ON MINE

Engineer Says B.R.X. Excellent Speculation, but Disappointing at Present

VANCOUVER, Sept. 27 (CP).—Development of the gold vein at the B.R.X. Gold Mines, Ltd., property is still an excellent speculation, although it is disappointing not to find a ripe ore body at the shaft, Ira B. Joralemon, mining engineer, stated in a report on the property made public today.

Much more free gold can be seen on the sixth level than on the tunnel levels, the report stated. The best mineralization on the lower tunnel levels apparently has a pitch to the northwest, following the intersection of a cross-strand with the hanging footwall strands.

VALUES IMPROVING
This intersection, the report continues, could still be fifty to 100 feet ahead of the northwest face on the sixth level. Average values are improving in this direction and the last few feet would be commercial ore with costs like those of Bralorne.

"It seems very probable that a good ore body will be found by a little ahead of additional work in this direction. The vein is so strong that long drifts should also be run southeast on both levels," it stated.

REFORM OF NRA SYSTEM

The operations of NRA are to be toned down. They are to proceed on a better ordered path than in the past, but the nature of that path is not disclosed by President Roosevelt. The chief thing, for the moment, is that General Hugh S. Johnson has resigned as the "foreman" of the dictatorship, and with his departure that aggressive and vociferous department of the Rooseveltian emergency government is changing its methods. What is happening is indicated after a fashion by Dr. Albert Shaw, Editor of The Review of Reviews of America, who has been persuaded all along that the "publicity stunts" of the NRA have been highly detrimental to its usefulness.

One factor which has led to a change in methods is the recent textile strike. Another is the coming elections through which a new Congress will be elected in November and will assemble early in January. That Congress will decide what to do with NRA, and if it is to continue there are radical amendments that must be made. As it has functioned up to date it leaves a great deal to be desired. There are millions of people still unemployed in the United States, and this is because hundreds of thousands of employers are unable to pay high wages. There are millions of stockholders receiving no dividends on their investments. As consumers they are unable to pay high prices for commodities. Over-confidence in its methods has marked NRA. That administration has been deluded by the advice of inexperienced professors whose only knowledge of business conditions has been derived from the textbooks of their universities.

Dr. Shaw asks what part of the NRA system can be salvaged now that the emergency excuses no longer exist. He hardly attempts to reply. He knows that a mess exists and that it will have to be cleaned up, but the manner of the cleaning is on the lap of the gods. He foresees that Democrats in the new Congress will be sharply critical of the policies of the New Deal and will no longer see any reason for declining to express their honest opinions. The Republicans are opposed in outright fashion to the policies that have been pursued. What, more than anything else, has led to a decline in the popularity of the Rooseveltian methods has been the dictatorial authority employed, an authority, which Dr. Shaw says, Premier Mussolini would never have dared to attempt in Italy. General Johnson, acting as the agent of President Roosevelt, attempted to set up a personal management of the private affairs of 125,000,000 people, a population composed for the most part of individuals who had never before been thus regimented and bossed. The effort has in large part failed, and General Johnson has disappeared into the limbo of forgotten personalities. President Roosevelt, with Congressional elections in sight, is framing a new course of policy.

FREE STATE ECONOMICS

In part the serious falling off in the aggregate trade of Free State Ireland must be attributed to depressed economic conditions. That, however, is not the whole cause that exports and imports should have shrunk in the course of five years from $543,000,000 to $290,000,000. The greatest reduction has taken place under the regime of Mr. de Valera. There is now an adverse trade balance of $95,000,000, which is the greatest in the country's history. Naturally such diminution means reduced purchasing power and increasing unemployment.

In cattle exports to Britain the reduction in the first seven months of the present year has been $5,000,000, which gives an indication of what is happening. That is the economic outcome of Mr. de Valera's violation of the treaty with Britain. The Free State's problem is now to find new outlets for its agricultural produce. Otherwise, more friendly economic relationships must be established with Britain, and that is only possible when the Free State resumes observance of the treaty by which Dominion status was won. The country is definitely on the decline under its present leadership.

THE PLAYING OF THE PIPES

The attractiveness of bagpipe playing at the recent Exhibition demonstrated the hold that this Scottish music has upon a large number of Canadians. Victoria is fortunate in having some fine players connected with the Canadian Scottish Regiment, who, it may be said, constitute one of the city's attractions to visitors. An illustration of wider range is the celebration at Banff, where the programme rivals that of similar gatherings in the Land of the Heather, where the music of the pipes has woven itself through long centuries into Scottish life and character. The bagpipe played the Highlander alike to banquet and to battle; its skirling was at the dance and at the graveside; its reels and pibrochs expressed the intensity of both his gaiety and his sorrow.

Thoroughly Scottish as it is, now, bagpipe playing was, for a long time, also popular in England. In fact this musical instrument entered both countries together in the fourteenth century. Chaucer pictures a miller who "a bagpipe could he blow and sowne," and Edward III sent his pipers to the continent for special training. It is an intriguing fact that at the Battle of Bannockburn, in 1314, both sides were led into action by the pipers. Henry VIII was a patron of the pipes and himself a player, and during the reign of Queen Elizabeth pipers from Lancashire played in the royal orchestra.

It was the coming of the Hanovers that hushed the drone of bagpipes. Following the revolution of 1688 everything connected with the Stuart cause fell into disrepute. After the Battle of Culloden, Cumberland issued a decree forbidding the mere playing of the pipes as a token of disloyalty. Thereafter it was the tenacity with which the Highland exile clung to the prescribed music which gradually caused the bagpipes to be regarded as the national instrument not only of the Gael, but of every inhabitant of Scotland. This was appreciated by the British Government in 1881, when the Regular Army forsook line numbers for territorial titles, pipe bands then being attached to all Scottish regiments, whether Highland or Lowland.

It is not given to everyone to appreciate the distinctive timbre of bagpipe music. Some would agree with the authorities at Singapore in the answer they gave to the request of the Highland Society last November to honor St. Andrew's Night with a bagpipe recital. One of the legislative council's regulations classed the bagpipes with "drums, tom-toms, whistles and other instruments of noise." A writer in Harper's Magazine voices the impression made upon him. Writing of the grace-notes he said: "They spun the finest mesh of sound that absorbed the hearing as well upon veil of gauze mist absorb the light. They became an iridescent mist of sound such as I had never met before." The meaning, he concludes, to quote The Toronto Mail and Empire, lies in the emotion of the great people who created the pibrochs, in the hearts of the pipers and of the men and women who respond.

A WARNING SIGNAL

The approach of the wet season calls for the display of a warning signal against a danger lurking in a closed garage. The danger lies in the possible presence of carbon monoxide, one of the most insidious and dangerous of gases. Carbon monoxide is reported to account for more deaths annually than all other gaseous poisons combined. In the home this gas is the responsible factor in coal gas poisonings due to faulty heating appliances. The motor car engine produces it in large quantities. A car with a motor idling in a closed garage will produce sufficient of the gas to render the air dangerous in five to ten minutes. The danger is all the greater because carbon monoxide is odorless, except in the nearly pure form, when it possesses a faint garlic odor. As it produces no irritating symptoms the victim is taken unawares, becomes dizzy or faint and is in danger of succumbing to its disastrous toxic effects. The motorist is well advised never to leave his motor idling in a closed or even partially closed place, and, as a precaution, to let a large supply of fresh air into the automobile's domicile before he enters himself.

Ontario's Deputy Minister of Labor urges a boycott against all firms forcing their employees to work under "sweatshop conditions." Statesmanship must have gone bankrupt in Ontario. It is Provincial Legislatures who regulate the hours of labor and the minimum wages paid by firms. There can be no "sweatshop conditions" where such Legislatures do their duty.

THE NEW MOON

Shrouded by greying clouds the Young Moon hides Her face upon the bosom of the Night— Night, who is mother to the starry sky— And so bedims awhile Her elfin light.

Like a frail sickle does She hang at eve Between that world of rebelle and this. As fragile as a song upon the wind, As timid as a lover's virgin kiss.

So tiny is She, yet the ocean tides, The rivers and the seasons homage pay— And nothing do without Her sovereign will— Until She sleeps there is not even Day.

Shrouded by greying clouds the Young Moon hides Her face upon the bosom of the Night— Too shy, as yet, to loose Her cloudy veil— And show Her beauty to man's earthly sight! —Hesper Le Gallienne, in The New York Times.

THE CULT OF THE AMATEUR

One of the most curious and characteristic phenomena in English national life is the cult of the amateur. The professional, as practitioner, administrator or expert witness, is prima facie an object of suspicion. Even the schoolboy shares the distrust of the prize-winner who has notoriously worked to gain his end, and reserves his applause for the athlete who has added a scholarship to his laurels, as an interlude in sterner tasks. In sport, indeed, amateur worship is under a temporary eclipse, though the House of Lords has recently ruled that to cast a doubt upon a golfer's amateur status may still be considered defamatory. But, in politics and in the administration of justice little enlightenment has as yet been made upon the sacred principle—Cecil Fifeot, in The Fortnightly (London).

Note and Comment

By R. B. D.

But who is this? What thing of sea or land?
That so bedims the night, and so bedims the day?
That comes this way so softly,
Like a state's ship? —Milton.

The yacht designers have had their turn and have demonstrated their ability to plan marine freaks which fulfil no practical purposes, now the interest of the people of the British Empire and the people of all the world will be concentrated upon a maritime event which took place upon the banks of the historic Clyde on Wednesday morning. On that eventful morning the new Cunard liner Queen Mary sailed from the land berth where she first took form and bowed gracefully to an enormous concourse of spectators as she entered her "native element." Fate seems to have decreed that the America Cup shall remain permanently in the coffers of the New York Yacht Club, but a British yacht designer has proved that he could design a freak quite as fast as any freak floating in American waters.

The cup may never be lifted; but there is an excellent prospect that the blue ribbon of the Atlantic may be won and displayed triumphantly on the mast of the Queen Mary. The cup was won by the schooner America more than half a century ago. The blue ribbon of the Atlantic, a merchant marine trophy, was lost only a year or two ago. The America was a real boat. The craft which defended what she had won were of no practical utility at all. Sailors called them skimming dishes with a board dipping deep into the water through a slot in the centre of the box and with an excessively wide beam to assist the centre-board in supporting the towering mast. The rules under which the challengers were compelled to compete were frankly designed to prevent the possibility of a really seaworthy boat from winning in a race against a skimming dish.

The conditions under which the contest for the blue ribbon of the Atlantic will be open to all competitors. The British shipbuilders and ship operators have been challenged by their French, German and Italian rivals, and they had either to accept the challenge or permanently dip their colors to the ships of foreign nations. Practical, and probably conservative, managers of our merchant marine say that ships of great size cannot be profitably operated; but the operation of the big and fast boats built by the Germans, the French and the Italians indicate that they are getting the business, and that if they are not given competition they will get not only the cream but the bulk of the business.

It is the law of all physical life that only the fit survive. It seems to be the law of business life that institutions must fight for their lives. If the fighting were always fair, there could be no doubt as to the victor; but under modern conditions the contest for supremacy either on land or water is not always fair. The ports of Great Britain are open to the ships of all the nations of the world. The ports of all the great nations of the world are not open to British ships. They are closed by coasting laws, and supporting those local laws are government subsidies for the construction and operation of ships.

The government of the United States has been specially lavish in subsidizing shipbuilding and ship transportation; but for the time the government of the United States is not entering the coming competition for the blue ribbon of the Atlantic. It has so many costly schemes under consideration and operation for the stimulation of its internal trade and business, and its national debt is rising so fast, that it cannot afford to indulge in any more daring experiments. In the United States there is not only the excessive cost of building ships to consider, there is the abnormal cost of working them. The race for supremacy on the sea must wait its turn, but assuredly its turn will come. For the time being, the United States must be content with possession of the coveted America Cup. In the cause of international harmony it might be just as well if the cup were permitted to repose without challenge in the place where it has slept so long.

The skill of a British yacht designer was displayed in the performance of the Endeavour. The skill not only of a British ship architect, but the skill of a multitude of British engineers, artisans and workmen will be displayed in the performance of the Queen Mary. It has been said with a great deal of justification that British shipbuilders taught all foreigners how to build ships. That may not be absolutely true, for the Dutch, the French and the Americans always have been good shipbuilders, but it is true in substance as applied to modern shipbuilding, since wooden hulls gave place to steel structures and steam chased sail into oblivion. So we have no doubt at all that the Queen Mary in due time will achieve the end for which she is being designed with mathematical and scientific precision. Governments with empty treasuries are spending billions in the vain hope of attaining and maintaining maritime supremacy. Great Britain could not afford to disdain such a challenge.

THE GIRLS THAT ARE WANTED

(This poem, written by George J. Bruce, then fifteen years of age, at Ashhill, Palmerston, Otago, New Zealand, first appeared in print in a story entitled "Rambles Around the Cathedral City," written by him under the nom de plume "Rambler," and was published in The Palmerston and Waikouaiti Times, a local weekly. The poem attracted much notice and was quoted in many New Zealand newspapers, thereafter being reproduced in British and American publications. It was included in an American volume of poetry called "Home Jewels," and has since appeared in the first volume of Col. "Thousand Best Poems in the World," published by Coles, London and Melbourne, and Hutchinson & Co., London, England. The fifth verse was added in Melbourne, Australia, in 1904, in response to a challenge from a lady who met the author there.)

The girls that are wanted are good girls,
Good from the heart to the lips,
Pure as the lily is sweet and true,
For his heart to his white leaf tips.

The girls that are wanted are home girls,
Girls that are mother's right hand;

Girls that their brothers look up to
And the little ones understand.

Girls that are fair on the hearthstone,
Pleasant when nobody sees,
Kind and sweet to the old folks,
Ready and anxious to please.

The girls that are wanted are sweet girls,
Sweet in a bright winsome way;
That win with a smile and a whisper
What haughtiness tosses away.

The girls that are wanted are true girls,
True to the Father above;
Who teach with the charm of an angel
The wonderful beauty of love.

The girls that are wanted are pure girls;
They are wanted for mothers and wives;

Wanted to cradle in loving arms
The sweetest and frailest of lives.

The girls that are wanted are girls of sense,
Whom fashion cannot never deceive;
Who follow whatever is pretty,
And dare what is silly to leave.

The clever, the witty and brilliant girls,
There are few who can understand;
But oh, for the wise loving home girls,
There's a constant and steady demand.

FIFTY YEARS AGO TODAY

(From The Daily British Colonist of September 28, 1884.)

The Queen—This is the name of a new restaurant and chop house to be opened this morning in the Omnica Building, on Yates street, by J. Brink, late of Seattle. The place has been thoroughly overhauled, and the private rooms, of which there are five, are so arranged that they can be thrown into one when necessary.

Pool Race—There was a foot race, 200 yards dash, at Beacon Hill yesterday afternoon, between M. Dickson, of the Yacht Club, and a stout and ambitious local sprinter, W. Fraser. The race was for $25 a side, and was won by Dickson by about eight feet.

Miraculous Escape—While a Portuguese sailor this morning was furling a sail at the topmast of the schooner Otter, just arrived from the Haring Sea, he was a distance of sixty feet, and eight feet from the deck, caught a part of the rising, drooping to the deck unharmed. Had he not caught the rope, death probably would have been instantaneous.

Gift of Grapes—Several generous bunches of grapes were left at this office yesterday, for which we have to thank Sheriff Harris. The grapes were grown in the sheriff's garden, and the full, ripe clusters are a credit to our climate.

SALMON FISHING BAN FOR GULF AND FRASER TO BE LIFTED OCT. 1

VANCOUVER, Sept. 27 (CP).—Salmon fishing will be resumed on the Gulf of Georgia and Fraser River on October 1 with the lifting of a ban applying to gill nets, nets of coarse mesh, and seines. Major J. A. Motherwell, chief supervisor of fisheries, announced today.

All fishing was closed several days ago to permit a reasonable escapement of spawning sockeyes to the spawning grounds. Tests made by fisheries officials show that a reasonable proportion of sockeye salmon has now ascended the river beyond the commercial fishing area.

WORLD DRAMA
BEING ENACTED

Colonel Abbott Boone Sees
Peace in Hands of Anglo-Saxon Nations

In the solidarity of the Anglo-Saxon races, the British Commonwealth of Nations and the United States, Col. Abbott Boone, of the United States artillery, sees the solution of world peace for the immediate future. Col. Boone, who resides in Seattle, was the speaker before the Victoria Rotary Club in the Empress Hotel, yesterday.

Colonel Boone sees in the Far East the elements that would make for another world conflict if better counsels do not prevail. There is no use concealing the fact, he says, that Japan, from economic reasons, with a large population and a relatively small area, has a right to demand some means of extending its territory.

It must be recognized that if peace was to prevail, Japan must be assisted in the solving of her difficulties in this matter. If she were not afforded a means for peaceful solution, there was ever present the danger of an appeal to arms.

PACIFIC DRAMA
The speaker likened the events of the world as resembling a great drama. The prologue which outlined in general the main features was passed. The first act, with its evolution of the plot, was also ended, and the world was waiting for the dropping of the curtain on the second act. The second half of this act was yet to come, and also the third act with its uncertainty as to whether it would be peace or another war.

The wonderful development of Japan as a world power was reviewed from the time when the United States, with four warships, eighty years ago, demanded the opening of the ports to trade, and the present, when the Oriental nation was dictating its demands upon the leading nations of the world.

He believed in a peaceful solution of difficulties, knowing that if international matters could not be solved by compromise, nations would have to revert to war.

Japan had realized that, the advancement of many of the other great nations had been by means of navies and armies. It could not be denied that the United States, in its sweep across the continent, with the exception of the purchase of Louisiana, had been to the accomplishment of the canon.

EVENTS IN EAST
In the drama of the Far East, other nations, including Russia and Germany, had taken possession in China. Japan, seeing that China was breaking up, had made her position secure. A draft treaty whereby Manchuria should go to Japan, was made non-effective by the united action of a number of the great powers.

Colonel Boone traced the events up to the date of the taking of Manchuria by Japan in 1931. The outlet for population was not solved by the taking of this latter country, as Manchuria had a population of 30,000,000 already there.

Discussing the question as to whether Japan desired war or not, the speaker "inclined to the belief that she was not intending to fight." The naval conference, which was to assemble in 1935, was an important event. It would appear that Japan would have to be assured of the necessary field for expansion, or she might feel that she would have to act in her own interests.

Japan might perhaps point to the history of other nations like the British Commonwealth and the United States, and say she was prepared to follow that example. It was necessary to meet this with the argument that while it was true that nations did these things as proposed, they were living in a new day and on a higher plane, and now necessary to keep treaties and insure the peace of the world based on compromises.

Col. Boone was accorded a splendid reception and received the thanks of J. Morse Hatt, president of the club, on behalf of the members, for his address.

SURVIVOR OF DOOMED MORRO CASTLE HEARD NO ALARM SOUNDED

NEW YORK, Sept. 27 (AP).—Miss Ann Behling, of Philadelphia, a survivor of the Morro Castle disaster, in a letter to the Federal inquiry board investigating the burning of the liner at sea, said today no alarms were sounded aboard the liner.

Miss Behling, in the letter read by Dickerson N. Hoover, said she was awakened at 2:35 o'clock in the morning by the smell of smoke and saw the flare of flames through the porthole of her cabin on "C" deck.

At no time, she wrote, did she hear an alarm, nor did she see any officers.

VESSEL IN DISTRESS PROVES TO BE SHIPS AT TARGET PRACTICE

SYDNEY, N.S., Sept. 27 (CP).—Two score seamen and Royal Canadian Mounted Police became ardent advocates of disarmament today after they had groped about in the fog off the Cape Breton coast in search of a vessel in distress, only to find that fears had been aroused by two Canadian destroyers having target practice.

Early this morning they returned to port with the news that H.M.C.S. Saguenay and H.M.C.S. Champlain, far from their base at Halifax, had been holding a target practice after dark.

NEW HOLSTEIN, Wis.—New Holstein's electric system was dead for more than an hour recently when a flying stump, blasted out of the earth, severed high tension wires.

Badminton Club
Elects Officers

NANAIMO, Sept. 27. — Andrew Jolly was elected president of the Nanaimo Badminton Club, at an enthusiastic meeting held in the gymnasium of the school.

Other officers are: Miss M. Harwood, vice-president; Leo Lapas, secretary-treasurer; Miss D. Robinson, Miss J. Hawthornthwaite, Miss M. Mills, A. E. Heighon and R. Mills, executive committee.

Train Time Changes

Effective October 1, mail for Up-Island points will close at the post-office at 9 o'clock in the morning, instead of 9:45 o'clock in the morning, as at present, Postmaster G. H. Gardiner announced yesterday. The alteration is due to a change in the time-table of the train.

VISITOR TO SEATTLE

Wallace Courtenay, of the local office of Northern Pacific and Canadian Airways, was a visitor to Seattle for several days this week. He flew over to the Puget Sound city on Monday with Percy Barnes, mail pilot, who made a special flying trip to take C. Dickinson, a passenger arriving here on the Es. Empress of Russia that morning, and was in a hurry to make connections with a plane out of Seattle for Chicago.

"Nature abhors a vacuum," read out little Archibald from the paper. "There now," interrupted his mother, "that settles it." "Settles what?" asked father. "Why, you can go first thing tomorrow morning and cancel that vacuum cleaner you were going to buy me. I never did with interfering with nature."

Ward Two Association Holds
Annual Meeting—Member Gives Address

Ward Two Saanich Liberal Association members last night elected officers for the coming year. They chose R. Noble as president; R. Gray, vice-president, and J. Williams, secretary, and the following executive committee: Mrs. H. Porter, Mrs. R. Noble, Mrs. R. Gray, Mrs. Harris, E. E. Bell, W. Campbell, J. Antrobus, Sr. and Samuel Gregory. The delegates to the central organization are R. Noble, R. Gray, J. Williams, S. Gregory and J. Antrobus, Sr.

Following the regular business, the members listened to addresses from Alan Chambers, Liberal candidate for the Federal riding of Nanaimo, and Norman W. Whittaker, M.P.P. for Saanich. Included in the points raised by Mr. Chambers were the placing of national credit in the hands of the nation; raising of the standard of living; prevention of the exploitation of the wage earners; prevention of monopolies on natural resources; the establishment of a world monetary unit to measure money; removal of trade barriers, and the reduction of the armies and navies to the status of an international police force.

TRUSTEES AUTHORIZE PURCHASE OF BOOKS

For the purchase of books and wall maps for use in Esquimalt High School, Esquimalt School Board, at its monthly meeting last night, authorized the expenditure of $100.

Accounts for September, totaling $276.46, and salaries for the month amounting to $2,880.85, were ordered paid by the trustees.

"Belgica" Reported
MOSCOW, Sept. 27 (AP).—The Belgian balloon "Belgica," was reported today to have landed more than 150 miles north of Moscow, making it the probable winner of third place in the Gordon Bennett Cup race.

The highest task of Liberalism today is to show how to bring this international anarchy and confusion to an end; to solve these new problems in construction and forward facing fashion without being compelled to give way to compulsion in any of its forms."

Mr. Whittaker's address was mainly on the work of the Industrial Relations Board, and outlined the various industries that had been brought under the operation of the minimum wage law and mentioned the minimum wage now being paid in each industry.

He quoted figures, by way of comparison, of the recovery by the Department of Labor to female employees in the province for the year 1933 and for the six months of 1934. In 1933, the department recovered $6,800 and in the half of this year a total of $6,200. This amount, he said, represented what should have been paid to the employees under the act.

APPROPRIATION NEARLY SPENT

Total of $36,618 Out of $40,800 Already Expended by Saanich

Saanich is reaching its limit of appropriations for general ward works, a progress report submitted to the council last night by R. R. F. Sewell, municipal clerk, revealed.

The appropriation for the year is $40,800. Up to September 1, a total of $36,618.46 had been spent, the report showed. Included in this latter amount was a sum of $3,311.87 for general fire fighting.

Ward expenditures are made up as follows: Ward One, $4,783.33; Ward Two, $3,596.03; Ward Three, $4,620.73; Ward Four, $4,444.31; Ward Five, $5,677.55; Ward Six, $4,329.64; Ward Seven, $5,794.06.

DIED AT NANAIMO
NANAIMO, Sept. 27. — Thomas Garrett, aged eighty-three, died in Nanaimo Hospital at 6 o'clock this morning.

Born in England, he came to Nanaimo ten years ago. He is survived by two daughters, Mrs. William Fielding, Five Acres, with whom he made his home, and Miss H. Garrett, also of this city.

Funeral services will be held on Saturday from Jenkins' Chapel, interment to be in Nanaimo Cemetery. Rev. J. Herdman will officiate.

Stylish Fall Fashions Engaged Couple Photographed in Yugoslavia

Large Crowd Attends First Showing of Season's Most Up-to-Date Clothes—St. Ann's Alumnae Was Sponsor of Revue

It is to Mother Nature, the most perfect of all designers, and original of the loveliest of color combinations, that the designers have turned for inspiration for the Fall fashions. An attractive array of some of the most beautiful of the new styles was presented by the Hudson's Bay Company, yesterday afternoon, the fashion parade being sponsored by the Association of St. Ann's Former Pupils. The Victorian dining-room was thronged with spectators and the tables loaded with particularly attractive with decorations of yellow and bronze chrysanthemums.

Starting with a group of knitted suits, there were clothes for every occasion, and the simplicity of style, good design and a charming range of color were characteristic of both the suits and gowns.

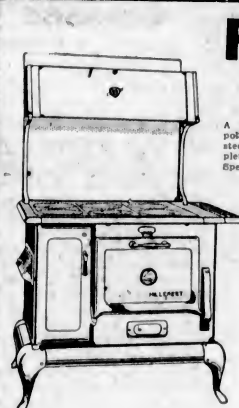

The mannequins, Miss Carey, Miss Pennock, Miss Scott, Mrs. Rattenbury, Mrs. Tautz and Miss Allen, modeled the clothes for grown-ups, while Maureen Little, Maureen Bothe and Mona Walsh made fascinating models for the children's wear.

SPORTS SUITS

Particularly attractive in the knitted suits group was a two-piece in the new shade, worn by Miss Carey, and a two-piece sports suit in a leaf green shade, worn by Miss Scott. A brown check lanes model, worn by Mrs. Rattenbury, was another very smart outfit. The hats, all of felt, were of simple design, many featuring the turned-up-back brim and also the beret type. Tweed crepe and hand-knitted sports dresses were much admired, and a number of Langburne swaggar suits featured the new box-like effect.

Y.P.S. News
JAMES BAY UNITED
At the weekly meeting of the James Bay United Y.P.S., Miss Evelyn Fleming was elected to fill the vacant position of president, and Glen Densted was chosen to fill the vacant post of vice-president. Mr. Ross Bewell was appointed as delegate to the union. A report was presented by the play committee. At the meeting on Monday, a social evening will be held.
DOUGLAS STREET BAPTIST
A banquet will be held by the Douglas Street Baptist Y.P.S. instead of the regular meeting, to-night. The banquet will be held in the Sunday school room at 7:30 o'clock, and each member is asked to bring a friend in an endeavor to increase the membership.
CENTENNIAL
The regular meeting of the Young People's Society of Centennial United Church was held in the Sunday schoolroom on Tuesday evening, and took the form of a social. Ernest Hatch was in charge of the games and provided a fine variety of entertainment. The group was divided into ten groups, and each was set to playing separate games. Prizes for the group gaining the largest aggregate in the ten games were won by Misses Betty Corlies and Mildred Dickson and Messrs. Jim McCague and Fred Wheeley. Lunch was served by the social committee.
Washington observers note a new undertone of seriousness in Mr. Roosevelt since the return from his vacation. Maybe he found forty-eight quarts of milk on the porch.
"What do you intend to do when you are released?"
"Open a jeweler's shop."
"Have you the means to do so?"
"Yes, my pal has kept my tools."

Linen Shower Arranged to Aid Hospital

The annual linen shower of the Senior W.A. to the Jubilee Hospital will be held on Thursday, November 22, at the Nurses' Home. Plans were discussed at the monthly meeting of the auxiliary, held on Wednesday afternoon, the president, Mrs. John Phethian, in the chair.

Mrs. J. L. Crimp reported two sewing meetings held in September, when work for the Winter months was begun. Mrs. P. E. Taylor, membership convener, reported $40 received for shoes since the June collection, the following having paid: Mrs. H. Nation, Miss D. Scott, Mrs. A. V. King, Mrs. R. J. Robertson, Mrs. E. H. Griffiths, Mrs. A. Clubb, Mrs. Peter Bell, Mrs. Curtis Sampson, Mrs. H. P. Bayley, Mrs. E. G. Prior, Mrs. V. B. Taylor, Mrs. F. V. Longstaff, Mrs. J. G. MacFarlane, Mrs. L. A. Genge, Mrs. A. Scott, Mrs. J. A. Worthington, Mrs. Archer Martin and Mrs. H. J. Pendray.

At Miss Mitchell's request, the meeting voted the purchase of two bolts of flannel and one bolt of cotton flannel. Mrs. Phethian and Mrs. R. L. Oliver were appointed delegates to the British Columbia Hospitals Convention, to be held at the Empress Hotel on October 3, 4 and 5. To fill two vacancies on the executive, Mrs. H. H. Shandley and Miss S. Fraser were nominated. The committee reported favorable results in all arrangements for the hospital ball, to be held at the Empress Hotel on October 12.

PARIS STYLES

By MARY KNIGHT
United Press Staff Correspondent
PARIS (UP).—It looks like we are in for a Winter of being "Little Women," whether we like it or not. Bangs dangling over our forehead and curls bobbing in the back at the nape of our necks—these complete the picture of old-fashioned loveliness we are about to adopt as our own.
Heim strikes a new note, however, along with his "Hearts and Flowers" theme song. It is "Surrealism"—a thing of greater femininity of volume skillfully handled, of illusion and delight.

He does a molded, sheath-like line for greater subtlety. He has gathered up his folds of material and disposed of them around the figure in ways best calculated to show the good and hide the bad. Shoulders droop slightly (just enough to be a little wastful) and collars rise high like the crest of a wave around the ears, but cleverly avoid jostling the hat over the nose.

Chiselled mirror and metal, in the spirit of Venice and the Renaissance, form the basic jewelry motif. Large discs, rectangles and heart-shaped plaques, some nearly half an inch in thickness, are used as belt buckles and ornaments for the throat or shoulder. Stars are out, too, for jewelry, and the moon comes up frequently. "On a corsage or against the pink lobe of a lady's ear," says Mr. Heim, "these jewels bring an unexpected touch of light and beauty."

Harvey-Boggs Chapter
The members of the Valentine Harvey-Boggs Chapter met on Wednesday, from 3:30 to 6:00 p.m., at the home of Mrs. S. H. Brake, 129 Beach. A cordial invitation to attend is extended to all former members of the Robert Valentine Harvey and the Herbert Beaumont Boggs Chapters, and all persons interested in the welfare of the chapter.

Municipal Chapter
The Municipal Chapter met for the first time since the Summer recess, yesterday afternoon, at headquarters, with Mrs. L. A. Genge, the regent, presiding. A donation from the proceeds of Alexandra Road Day, which assist the child welfare work of the chapter was made to the fund. Mrs. P. E. Corby announced the formation of a new girls' chapter, which has been named the Edward Prince of Wales, and the members have taken the motto of H.R.H. Prince of Wales, "Ich Dien" (I Serve). Mrs. Helen Gillespie appealed for a trophy to be competed for at the Musical Festival. The primary chapters that are sending delegates to the semi-annual meeting to be held at Chilliwack on Thursday, October 24, were asked to send the delegates' names to the municipal secretary, not later than October 10. The chapter will distribute hamper to the families of ex-service men at Christmas, and Mrs. George Miles will be the convener. The primary chapters were asked to send donations for hampers to the municipal secretary as soon as possible. Miss A. B. Cooke gave a detailed statement on secondary education work of the order and announced that several bursaries had been presented during the Summer.

Anglican Young People
The first meeting of St. Mark's A.Y.P.S. was held on Wednesday afternoon, with a large attendance. Nomination and election to office resulted as follows: President, Miss H. Fletcher; vice-president, Mr. H. George; corresponding secretary, Miss N. Holyoake; recording secretary, Miss L. Higham; publicity secretary, Mr. A. Matcham; social convener, Mrs. C. Birtwistle. After the business had been concluded, Mr. and Mrs. R. Birtwistle were presented with a handsome bread tray. Dancing, games and refreshments were enjoyed at the close of the evening.

Belmont W.A.
The W.A. of Belmont United Church met for the first time since the holidays at the home of Mrs. G. A. Butler, 871 Monmouth Street. The president, Mrs. C. Wharton, was in charge. Mrs. F. Emery read the Scripture lesson. Final arrangements were made for the harvest home supper, to be held in the church classrooms, on Tuesday, at 6:30 p.m. The annual sale of work will be held on Wednesday, November 21. The hostess, assisted by Mrs. L. Benson, served refreshments.

Garden City W.A.
The annual meeting of the Women's Association of Garden City United Church was held, recently, at the home of Mrs. Kevill, Jasmine Avenue. Arrangements were completed for a congregational social to be held this week. A congregational supper will be held on October 11. Tea was served by the

Graduate Nurses
A meeting of the Graduate Nurses' Association will be held at St. Joseph's Hospital Nurses' Home, at 8 p.m., on Tuesday. Sister Mary Gregory, of St. Joseph's Hospital, will speak on her year at the College of Teresa, which is affiliated with the Mayo Clinic. Final arrangements will be made for the entertainment of the nurses attending the Provincial G.N.A. meeting, to be held on Saturday, October 6.

RECEIPTS FROM TAXES GAINING

Collections of Arrears Surpass Last Year and Estimate for 1934

Collection of tax arrears are not only ahead of the receipts for the same period last year, but are well over the estimated figure for 1934. This encouraging announcement was made yesterday at the City Hall, when the treasury department office was well filled with property holders making payment on current accounts before the penalty falls due on October 2.

The appeal to pay up current accounts before October 2, and help the city avoid any deficit at the end of the year has received splendid response, officials stated, and if receipts are maintained as they have been for the past two weeks, there should be no reason why the city should not end the year in a financially sound position.

CONSTITUTION WILL BE UNDER REVIEW

able amendment. There have been amendments and the general practice has been to secure them by joint resolution of the Senate and House of Commons addressed to the Imperial Parliament in London. On occasions they have been secured on the sole representations of the Prime Minister, but that was many years ago.

It will be the objective of the forthcoming conference to secure approval of certain proposed amendments and also to secure, by concerted action of the Provinces and the Dominion, approval by the British Parliament of a purely Canadian method of amending the constitution. If the latter objective is achieved it will then be possible for the Canadian people, as represented by their members in Parliament, to make whatever amendments circumstances dictate without further reference to London.

NOT A CONTRACT

The argument has been advanced frequently in the past that the Confederation Pact was a contract, and as such cannot be disturbed. Those who now advocate an overhauling, argue that the document cannot be looked upon as a contract since only some of the provinces were in existence when it was executed.

While it is argued that the Dominion Parliament would be quite within its rights in seeking amendments to the act, the assumption would be that no amendments would be of a nature likely to affect the provinces unfavorably, nor without consultation. Nevertheless, it is maintained, no province or provinces would be in a position to veto proposed amendments.

Should the provinces agree to surrender some of their rights laid down in the B.N.A., it would probably be only with strict reservations, so that matters concerning race and religion could not be dealt with by the Federal authority.

OPPOSITION EXPECTED

There is every likelihood, however, that strong opposition will arise, particularly in Ontario and Quebec and possibly in British Columbia, to any interference with the act by unanimous agreement, particularly with respect to hours of work, the minimum wage and taxing privileges.

The pressing need of amendment arose out of the difficulties surrounding unemployment relief and similar social problems encountered, particularly in recent years. An unemployment insurance scheme has been demanded from all quarters with growing force, and one is ready for presentation at the next session of Parliament.

But for such a scheme to perform adequately the functions for which it is designed, uniform adoption and application in each of the nine provinces would be required. Unless an amendment were adopted to the Constitution, the Dominion Government would not be authorized, under the Constitution, to enforce or impose the provisions of the act upon any province not desiring to comply with its provisions.

NO CONSTITUTIONAL RIGHT

While the Dominion has been furnishing the bulk of the relief funds and playing a large part in their administration during the last four years of depression, it has no constitutional right to deal in any way with the privations of a people unless specifically invited to do so by the government of the province in which they reside.

Prime Minister R. B. Bennett, Rt. Hon. W. L. Mackenzie King, Leader of the Opposition, and James S. Woodsworth, leader of a large section of the third political group in the House of Commons, are all on record as being of the opinion that amendments to the Constitution are long overdue.

It is believed the British Parliament will act favorably upon whatever plan of procedure is agreed upon.

sion was held here this evening and an effort was made to ascertain the reason for the action of the Attorney-General, and to find out what the functions of the local police commission are.

On two occasions, when a plebiscite was submitted to the ratepayers here, the voters turned down provincial policing in favor of municipal police.

Commissioner Walter Harris asked at tonight's meeting who would pay the bill, while another commissioner stated that the whole affair developed into the status of a comic opera.

"It would appear," he said, "that we are elected by the ratepayers of the city and that we are fired by the Attorney-General."

"Yes, but you are not fired by the ratepayers," interrupted one of the speakers present.

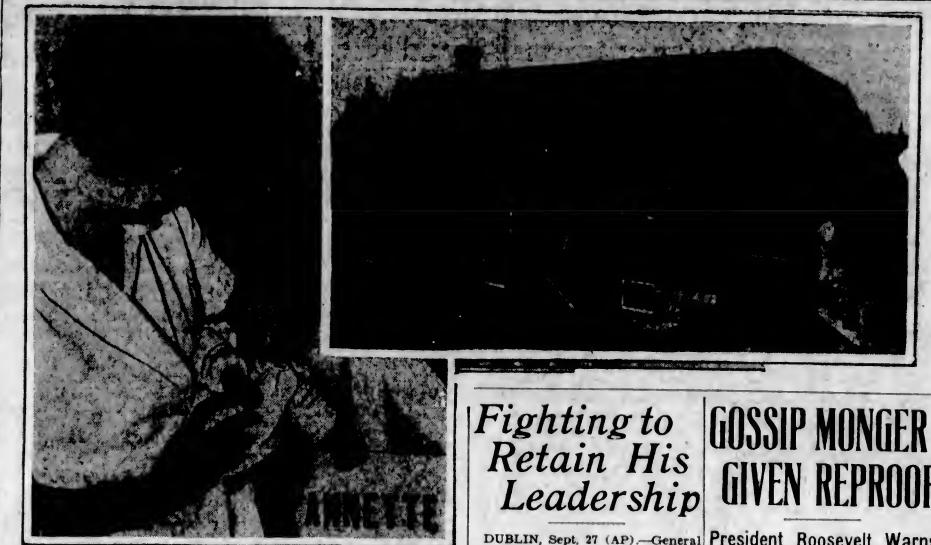

"Can anyone say why we are fired?" asked Commissioner Harris. "This to me is a most surprising action, and I cannot understand it."

"ONLY A TELEGRAM"

"Neither can I," said Mayor Warden. "No letter from the department, or from anyone else. Only a telegram."

Commissioner Cronk was the mover of a resolution that the matter be taken up with the Attorney-General and that a conference be arranged with him in order that the matter may be investigated.

Famous Babies Have Hospital of Their Own

Here is the new Dafoe Hospital, now occupied by the Dionne quintuplets, and a picture of Annette, one of the healthiest and loveliest of the babies, with Nurse Yvonne Leroux tenderly placing her in the specially built crib. All five babies are enjoying the comfort of their new airy room in the hospital at Callander, Ont.

The commissioners will refuse to pay any wages from September 26 on.

Attorney-General Gordon Sloan yesterday gave The Colonist the following explanation of the sudden move:

FRICION SUGGESTED

"Due to friction between the chief of police and the police commission of Port Alberni, the citizens of the community were losing confidence in the administration of justice. It was, therefore, deemed advisable, until such time as the citizens had an opportunity to decide by vote whether they wanted the Provincial Police to administer the law there or not, to exercise the power vested in the Attorney-General by the Municipal Act, and to place the municipality under the Provincial Police in the interim."

"This means that the police commission of Port Alberni no longer has any authority over the police there, who are now under the control of the commissioner of the Provincial Police. The municipal police continue in office, but under the direction of the commissioner. It is anticipated that there will be a vote on the subject of Port Alberni, and, in the meantime, it was deemed advisable for the Provincial Police to take immediate control," Mr. Sloan declared.

Rumors of Plots Causing Concern

MADRID, Sept. 27 (AP).—One man was killed, tonight, as two detachments of civil guards charged repeatedly into a mob in the Puerto Segovia district of Madrid.

Authorities restored order with difficulty.

In Government circles there was grave apprehension, tonight, as rumors of plots against the state persisted.

IMPERIAL INSTITUTE DIRECTOR APPOINTED

LONDON, Sept. 27 (CP).—Sir Harry Alexander Fanshawe Lindsay, who served as secretary of the Indian delegation to the Imperial Conference at Ottawa, has been appointed director of the Imperial Institute, succeeding Lieut.-General Sir William Purse, retiring.

Sir Harry has been Trade Commissioner in London for the Government of India since 1923. For about ten years prior to that he served overseas in various capacities, for a time as under secretary to the Government at Bengal.

OLD ENEMIES IN CLOSE ENTENTE

King and Queen of Yugoslavia Given Wonderful Welcome in Bulgaria

SOFIA, Bulgaria, Sept. 27 (AP).—The King and Queen of Yugoslavia were showered with acclamations of welcome today, as they entered the country of their former ancient enemies.

King Alexander and Queen Marie were accorded every traditional mark of Slavic welcome by their royal neighbors, King Boris and Queen Johanna.

From the moment they stepped from their train, the Yugoslavians King and Queen were greeted by the cheering populace. Not since Kaiser Wilhelm of Germany visited Sofia during the Great War has the country witnessed such scenes of festivity.

Largely through the initiative of the two kings, there now exists between the two countries what amounts to an entente. It is expected that Bulgaria, as a result of Alexander's influence, may eventually join the Balkan Pact.

APPOINTS BOARDS TO TAKE CHARGE OF NRA

"(2) To study and co-ordinate the handling of joint problems affecting these activities and,

"(3) To determine, with the approval of the President, the general policies of the administration of the National Industrial Recovery Act."

To the new administrative board Mr. Roosevelt appointed Clay Williams and A. D. Whiteside, industrialists; Sidney Hillman and Leon C. Marshall, labor spokesmen, and Walton Hamilton, professor of constitutional law at Yale University.

OTHERS ON BOARD

To these the President added as ex-officio members, Blackwell Smith, NRA legal adviser, and Leon Henderson, its chief economic adviser, and head of the research and planning division.

Colonel George A. Lynch will serve as active administrative officer directly under the board. He has held the position of NRA executive officer for more than half a year, having been granted leave of absence from the army at Johnson's request. Lynch will now stay indefinitely.

The administrative board was picked by the President from men with past NRA experience. All but Marshall were brought to the recovery administration by Johnson.

CHILDREN PARADE IN DECENCY CAMPAIGN

CHICAGO, Sept. 27 (AP).—Fifty thousand youngsters marched down Michigan Boulevard today in the first public demonstration of the Catholic Legion of Decency, an organization pledged to "clean up the movies."

Some shouting and giggling over their half holiday from school, some intently earnest, they paraded between lines of spectators, waving banners.

Battered Canoe Reveals Tragedy

THE PAS, Man., Sept. 27 (CP).—Eight months after Sten Oley Nilsson vanished in the Barren Lands, the North today gave its grim answer for his disappearance. It was a battered freight canoe found by searchers on the shores of the Churchill River. Oley was last seen in April by two Indians when he was preparing to take his catch of fur to "steel."

RETURNING TO MOSCOW

WASHINGTON, D.C., Sept. 27 (AP).—Alexander Troianovsky, Soviet ambassador, informed Secretary of State Cordell Hull, today, that he was returning to Moscow on October 3 to consult with the Foreign Office on proposals for a settlement of Soviet-American debts and claims.

Fighting to Retain His Leadership

DUBLIN, Sept. 27 (AP).—General Eoin O'Duffy, fighting to the last ditch to retain his leadership of the Irish Blueshirts, tonight called all party leaders to confer at Dublin, October 29.

Despite an announcement that he had resigned as leader of the Blueshirts, O'Duffy said today that he had given up only the presidency of the Fine Gael, the party heading the opposition to the Government of President Eamon de Valera.

FUSIONIST WINS IN ORANGE STATE

South African and Nationalist Parties' Coalition Passes First Popular Test

HEILBRON, Orange Free State, South Africa, Sept. 27 (CP).—The Fusion Government, formed by coalition of South African and Nationalist parties, won its first real test before the people.

In a by-election in which Premier J. B. Herzig and his leading opponent, D. F. Malan, took part, Johan Leibenberg, the Fusionist candidate, today was given a clear majority of 1,000 over the Nationalist Non-Fusionist nominee. The vote: Johan Leibenberg, Fusionist, 2,350. Jan Berfontein, Nationalist Non-Fusionist, 1,350.

The Central and Labor parties' candidates polled a combined vote of only 519.

TEXTILE HEAD DIES

HESPELER, Ont., Sept. 27 (CP).—One of Ontario's best-known industrialists, George D. Forbes, seventy-four, died suddenly here, today. Until 1928, when the firm was acquired by Dominion Woollens & Worsted, Ltd., he was a head of the textile firm of R. Forbes & Company, which his father helped to found.

HOLD-UP AT TERMINAL

BOSTON, Sept. 27 (AP).—Five men, one armed with a machine-gun, held up three employees of the Boston Elevated Railway at the Dudley Street terminal this morning, and escaped with more than $4,000.

GOSSIP MONGER GIVEN REPROOF

President Roosevelt Warns Against Rumors Starting in Wall Street

WASHINGTON, Sept. 27 (AP).—President Roosevelt, asserting the people of the United States "have both feet on the ground," tonight slapped severely at "gossip mongers who invent tales."

Roosevelt's address was carried by wireless to the fourth annual women's conference on current problems in New York, sponsored by The New York Herald-Tribune.

The President cited an instance, today, of what he classed as rumors from Wall Street. In this case he said it was purported that three members of his Cabinet, the Secretaries of the Treasury, Labor, and Agriculture Departments, as well as the under-secretary of agriculture, were resigning.

WALL STREET RUMOR

This "rumor" started in Wall Street, spread to Chicago, and came back to Washington for verification, he declared.

"The origin of the report comes from what is politely called an anonymous source," he said.

"I urge that every one of you consider and analyze the source and motive back of every report you read."

"It is with a very definite sense of gratification and thanks that I tell you of my conviction that our people have both feet on the ground."

The President expressed appreciation of what he termed an increasing interest by all people in "methods of improving the economic and social lot of our citizenry."

LAYMAN ELECTED AS PRESBYTERY CHAIRMAN

CLARESHOLM, Alta., Sept. 27 (CP).—Churchmen today believed all precedent shattered with the election of a layman, G. E. Mack, of Clareholm, as chairman of the High River Presbytery of the United Church of Canada at the Presbytery conference here.

It is the first time a layman has held such an office in Alberta and, some say, the first time in the history of the church anywhere.

Regrets follow use of CHEAP SOAP FLAKES

Cheap soap risk No. 1
—Harsh free alkali rots threads... makes cloth split!

Cheap soap risk No. 2
—Colors faded by bleaches and strong water-softeners.

Clothes Cost Dollars... Chipso Pennies Save Clothes

Experience favors Chipso...
Why? Because cheap soap flakes are made to astonish your eyes with the size of the package. Chipso is made to give thick rich SUDS.

Your carton of cheap soap flakes uses up fast. The suds are thin. You have to rub the clothes hard—beat the dirt out. Chipso suds are thick and creamy with soap. They soak dirt out.

Bleaches and strong water-softeners, used in cheap soap flakes to make up for the lack of suds, are hard on colors. Chipso contains nothing harsh to fade colors.

Alkali let loose on your clothes by crudely made, cheap soap flakes, gradually weakens the strongest cloth. You wonder why your clothes tear so easily—wear out so fast. Learn to save them on washday. Chipso is a fine, properly made soap. Use it for dishwashing—see how soft and smooth it leaves your hands. This shows you that Chipso is safe for your clothes—safe even for sheer materials and delicate colors. Chipso makes all your clothes wear longer.

Use Chipso for dishwashing Rich suds dissolve grease SAVE YOUR HANDS

NOTHING HARSH IN CHIPSO!
Chipso is SOAPIER. It is not adulterated with harsh, "dirt-cutting" ingredients. Its RICH SUDS loosen dirt, yet are SAFE even for your nicest lingerie. Chipso makes all your clothes wear longer.

What Today Means

"LIBRA"
If September 24 is your birthday, the best hours for you on this date are from 10:45 a.m. to 12:45 p.m., from 2:45 to 4:45 p.m., and from 7:45 to 9:45 p.m. The danger periods are from 8:45 to 10:45 a.m., from 4:45 to 6:45 p.m., and from 9:45 to 11:45 p.m.

If you will anticipate on this September 28 the needs of family, friends or customers, which you can take care of without financial expense, or serious inconvenience, their appreciation may not only be gratifying, but also prove decidedly advantageous. In the buying, selling or handling of any sea products it might prove wise to be discriminating, as well as careful. Care should be exercised where weights or measures enter into business transactions.

Be careful not to jump too readily at a purported bargain that might be offered to you, for the reason of a low price may be discovered when it is too late. This day should prove suspicious for inspiration in writing, planning or preparing literature for any kind of campaign. There is an indication that you should receive some money within the next twenty-four hours and it might be well to use it judiciously. Discretion is called for in matters relating to self-indulgence and lavish expenditures.

This September 28 may not prove a good day on which to contract financial obligations, unless you know positively you will be in the position to meet them when they fall due. Social activities may prove the medium of establishing new and valuable connections. Married and engaged couples, as well as those engaged in love affairs, should be very careful regarding making promises unless certain they can be fulfilled.

If a woman and September 28 is your natal day, you should be able to look forward, with a contented mind, to the months intervening between this birthday and your next one. There is the possibility of a great deal of good occurring. You should be careful you are not too easily impressed by the statements made to you by strangers, especially if they are tales of woe. There should be an abundance of love in your life.

The child born on September 28, when it becomes old enough to understand, must be taught not to be glib, but, having a very trusting nature, it might be easily imposed upon. Sweet and well-mannered, it should be very popular.

If a man and September 28 is your birthday, you may save yourself money and do better in business if you are a little more skeptical regarding the sincerity of strangers in business matters. You should make a lot of money if you will not let sympathy or friendship influence your judgment. Married life is the logical one for you.

ROCHESTER, N.Y.—A lavender and lace romance culminated here in the marriage of Joseph Bauer, Civil War veteran, and Mrs. Fannie Hamman. The groom was eighty-nine and the bride sixty-five.

BLIND MAN CANDIDATE
MILWAUKEE.—Walter Hafemann, thirty-seven, stone-blind since a piece of tin struck him in the eye when he was six years old, has announced his candidacy for Democratic state assemblyman. Hafemann, who writes on a typewriter with speed and accuracy, became acquainted with politics when he sold newspapers as a youth in the old Milwaukee County Courthouse.

test were Kauder's Leghorns from New Paltz, N.Y., with 2,478 eggs and 2,580.85 points.

The maid had been hinting that she did not think much of service, and this, in conjunction with the nightly appearances of a rather sheepish-looking young man, caused her mistress some apprehension.

"Martha, is it possible you are thinking of getting married?" said her mistress.
"Yes, ma'am," admitted Martha.
"Not to that young fellow who has been calling on you lately?"

"Yes, ma'am, he's the one."
"But you've only known him a few weeks."
"Two months come Thursday," corrected Martha.
"Do you think that is long enough to know a man before taking such an important step?"

"Well," answered Martha, "it isn't as if he was some new fellow. A girl I know was engaged to him for quite a long time."

DOMINION BRINGS POWERFUL DRAMA

"One More River" Finds Colin Clive, Actor, and James Whale, Director, Together

Colin Clive, actor, and James Whale, director, are the Damon and Pythias of the screen world.

The two have long been friends, and several years ago were associated in the original stage production of "Journey's End" in London, with Whale as director and Clive in the leading role.

A short time later Whale entered motion pictures in Hollywood, and to his first directorial effort was the and thus director and actor did their first film work in the same picture. Now the two are associated again in "One More River," the powerful Universal drama which is the feature at the Dominion Theatre, with Diana Wynyard in the starring role. The picture was directed by Whale, and Clive occupies an important place in a cast which also includes Frank Lawton, Mrs. Patrick Campbell, Jane Wyatt, Reginald Denny and Lionel Atwill. The original novel was written by the late John Galsworthy and adapted for the screen by R. C. Sheriff.

CRITICS COMMEND VISITING TROUPE

"The High Hatters of Rhythm" Open Stage Engagement at Empire Theatre Today

With the praise of theatrical critics in leading Pacific Coast cities, "The High Hatters of Rhythm" will open their Victoria engagement at the Empire Theatre today, and also will appear tomorrow and Monday as well as at a special midnight matinee at 12:01 Monday.

The theatrical critic of The Vancouver Sun, speaking of "The High Hatters" last week, said: "This company presented a well-balanced, entertaining feature, with never a dull moment."

"Ralph Britt and his orchestra provided the musical background for the stage show, and managed to inject a lot of musical comedy into their work. Their feature numbers were well presented."

"Jock and Ginger were the hit of the show in their 'Drunk and the Doll' dance. This pair put on a pantomimic dance that brought the houses down. So enthusiastic were the members of the audiences that they brought these dancers back time and again."

"Trene Cooper put over several songs in an individual manner, and The Three Harmonettes—radio singers—sang with pleasing harmony."

COLUMBIA "Double Door," now playing at the Columbia Theatre, is the fifth picture in which Sir Guy Standing appears for Paramount during the 1933-1934 season. From a comedy role in "Hell and High Water," and the sympathetic protagonist in "Cradle Song," Standing played two of the most highly dramatic roles of his career in "Death Takes a Holiday" and in Augustus Thomas' "The Wicked Heart."

PLAYHOUSE Robert Armstrong, featured in "Manhattan Love Song," a Monogram feature now at the Playhouse Theatre, distinguished himself in athletics as well as dramatics while attending the University of Washington. During his senior year he wrote a skill for school presentation. He played football, baseball, and made his varsity letter in the latter, playing first base.

Capitol Secures Fine Programme

"Bigger and Better Pictures" is the Capitol slogan for its fall season attractions which starts tomorrow with Will Rogers in "Judge Priest," and includes the McLarnin-Ross fight pictures as the added attraction.

Among the list of the pictures already secured for showing at the Capitol this season are included: "The Barretts of Wimpole Street," featuring Norma Shearer and Charles Laughton; "One Night of Love," in which is starred Grace Moore, of Metropolitan Opera fame; and is undoubtedly one of the musical hit pictures of the year. From the British studios comes the splendid production, "Chu Chin Chow," with George Robey in the role of Ali Bab, a tremendous success on the London stage, and now a great screen musical extravaganza; "Cleopatra," a typical De Mille spectacle, crowded with elaborate settings and lavish scenes with a great cast headed by Claudette Colbert; "The Last Gentleman," with George Arliss, and one of his best; and "Dames," the Warner Bros. new musical, is also on the list, featuring Ruby Keeler and Dick Powell.

SOUTHERN FESTIVAL IS FILM BACKGROUND

One of the South's oldest and most famed traditions, the ice-cream carnival, is reproduced in the Fox film, "Judge Priest," starring Will Rogers, and showing tomorrow at the Capitol Theatre. John Ford, the director, has brought every detail of this noted Southern ceremony to the screen, even to the point of hanging Japanese lanterns around the house and over the lawn of the estate where the carnival is held.

When Irving S. Cobb, author of "Judge Priest," visited the set during the filming of the scene, he expressed satisfaction over the setting.

"This is just like all the old festivals I used to see down home when everyone bought a plate of ice cream for fifteen cents, and when every woman brought a cake that she had baked," he said.

Sets Seattle-Los Angeles Record

Colonel Roscoe Turner, Los Angeles aviator, who recently established a new West to East Coast air-plane speed record, now holds a new Seattle to Los Angeles speed record. Accompanied by Clyde Pangborn, round-the-world flyer, Colonel Turner flew to Los Angeles from Seattle, a distance of 1,119 miles, in 5 hours and 20 minutes, averaging 205.4 miles an hour. The plane is an entry in the London-Melbourne $70,000 air race. Photo shows Colonel Turner's ship "taking a peek" at Mount Rainier, as he tests his giant multi-engine Boeing transport in preparation for the trans-Asiatic classic.

REDS WHITTLE GIANTS' LEAD TO HALF A GAME

International to Rob Leading Teams Of Strong Material

England Versus Wales Match Will Weaken Several Contending Clubs in First Division—Manchester City Has Trio in Tussle

LONDON, Sept. 27 (CP).—Some of the leading teams in the English Football League will be minus their best players in Saturday's league encounters owing to the first international soccer match of the season between England and Wales, which has drawn heavily on club rosters. Manchester City, sharing league leadership with Preston North End, contributed three stalwarts to the English side—Bray, Tilson, and Brook. Arsenal loses two, and so do the Spurs. With Bowden on the international forward line, Marshall, formerly of the Glasgow Rangers, will get another chance on the Arsenal attack when the league champions take on Birmingham at Highbury. The Bruins will be without Hibbs in the nets.

The weakened Manchester City outfit travels to Middlesbrough. Preston, meanwhile, are drawn at Aston Villa's grounds, and the latter, with only three victories out of seven starts, will not be easy opponents. Goalie John, of Preston, is an absentee.

PLAYING AWAY
Sunderland and Everton, deadlocked only a point behind the league leaders, are drawn at a way matches, the former at Wolverhampton and Everton at Leicester City. Sunderland has a royal chance of taking the lead, as their eleven is intact while the Wolves lose Richards and Phillips at Cardiff. Everton will have no easy task with Leicester City, being without Britton, though the City loses Mills.

Bolton Wanderers, the Second Division leaders, who remain the only unbeaten and untied team in the entire league, expect to extend their string of successes to eight matches at the expense of Southampton, their visitors on Saturday. Brentford must have a struggle with West Ham United.

SCOTTISH LEAGUE
GLASGOW, Sept. 27 (CP).—If the experts are correct, Glasgow Rangers will be in their accustomed position on Saturday night, alone at the top of the Scottish Football League.

The champions and cupholders, now tied on points with Clyde, but far ahead on goal average, entertain the Hibs at Ibrox Park, while Clyde takes on the battling Dundee eleven. Clyde has six victories and three draws in as many starts.

St. Johnstone takes on Motherwell. Third Lanark, demoted from the First Division, expect no difficulty maintaining their lead over the league leaders. Their opponents on Saturday are the Brechin City eleven, winners of only two starts this season.

BIKE RIDERS ARE BUNCHED

Peden and Cozens Tied for First Place but Are Trail-ing in Points

PITTSBURGH, Sept. 27 (CP).—Pedaling past the ninety-fifth hour in the six-day bike race, three teams were tied for first place, shortly before midnight. The Canadians, Henri Lepage and Jules Andry, Montreal, and Torchy Peden, Victoria, figure in the front-riding combinations. The standing at 11:30 p.m. follows:

GIANTS REST FOR TUSSLES WITH DODGERS

New York Squad Given Holiday by Manager—Tigers Ready for Series

By EDDIE BREITZ
Associated Press Sports Writer.

NEW YORK, Sept. 26 (AP).—Manager Bill Terry gave his ailing Giants a holiday today, hoping the lay-off would help them get a grip on themselves and shake off the jitters, threatening to knock them out of the National League ball championship.

Today and tomorrow are open dates on the schedule. Then the official curtain will ring down with two all-important tussles with the Dodgers, Saturday and Sunday, at the Polo Grounds.

But instead of ordering his men to the park for fire drills, Terry told them to stay away from the arena and try to get their minds off their misery—if possible.

Since the New Yorkers hit the tobbogan three weeks ago they have dropped eleven of twenty-one starts and tossed away six games of their seven-game lead.

Their faithful followers are convinced that the protracted batting slump of young Mel Ott is the big factor in the rout of the Giants.

In the last four games he has been to bat sixteen times without getting anything that resembled a base-hit.

TIGERS PREPARED
DETROIT, Sept. 27 (AP).—Mickey Cochrane's "iron men" are ready for the world series.

After almost six long months of fighting and smashing their way to their first American League pennant in twenty-five years, Detroit Tigers will trot out for the first series game with practically the same team that opened the season last April 17 against Chicago White Sox.

Fearing only staleness, in the event of a play-off between St. Louis Cardinals and New York Giants, Cochrane today accepted an offer of Rogers Hornsby to keep his St. Louis Browns in Detroit next week to provide practice for the American League champions.

The Browns finish the season for the Tigers Saturday and Sunday. Manager Cochrane admits that luck has been combined with stamina and skill in the amazing stride to the pennant. Youth was the big factor, for they showed they "could take it," Cochrane said.

Fund Is Established For Annual Fixtures

Inter-Provincial Competition Among Women Golfers Throughout Canada to Be Continued—Mrs. Edwin Crockett Elected President

TORONTO, Sept. 27 (CP).—A fund to ensure perpetuation of inter-provincial team golf matches was established at the annual meeting of the Canadian Ladies' Golf Union here today. The team match was inaugurated this week in conjunction with the close championship qualifying round, with the Ontario quartette winning the shield donated by the Royal Canadian Golf Association.

The inter-provincial team fund will be raised from gate receipts at various tournaments staged by the union and each provincial body will be asked to make an annual contribution. The fund will be controlled by the parent body and used to defray expenses of teams from provinces which otherwise would not be able to compete in the event.

The idea originated from letters sent by players competing in the tournament at Winnipeg last year.

CHOSEN HEAD
Mrs. Edwin Crockett, Toronto, was elected president for the 1934-35 term, while Mrs. Jess Haddett, of Hamilton, whom she succeeds, was installed as honorary president.

Mrs. M. K. Rowe, Toronto, was re-elected secretary-treasurer. She reported that eleven new clubs had affiliated with the union, bringing the total to 232. Ontario has ninety-five clubs affiliated, Quebec, fifty-two; Manitoba, twelve; Saskatchewan, fifteen; Alberta, fifteen; British Columbia, eighteen; and the Maritime Provinces, twenty-six.

Mrs. Evelyn Mills, Ottawa, was chosen as chairman of the committee which will have the duty of allocating handicaps for the coming year.

The union has received offers from the Maritime, Quebec and British Columbia unions to play hosts to the open and close championship tournaments next year. The union will not be decided, however, until the first meeting of the executive.

ENGLISH AND U.S. GOLFERS IN DEADLOCK

By DILLON GRAHAM
Associated Press Sports Writer.

CHEVY CHASE, Md., Sept. 27 (AP).—The United States and British women's Curtis Cup golf teams battled through a driving rainstorm here, today, and wound up all wet and all square, with the international depending on the six single engagements tomorrow.

Both the United States and British defenders and the British challengers chalked up one victory each in the three Scotch foursome or doubles matches. But a draw was the best either team could carve out of the feature match of the day.

Miss "Pam" Barton, youngest member of the British team, and Miss Molly Gourlay, ended in a dampened deadlock against the United States titleholder, Miss Virginia Van Wile, and Miss Charlotte Glutting, of New Jersey.

Miss Diana Plumptre and Mrs. J. B. Walker, of Great Britain, flashed some fine form and beat Mrs. Opal S. Hill, of Kansas City, and Miss Lucille Robinson, of Des Moines, Iowa, one up.

SCORES U.S. WIN
Miss Maureen Orcutt, of New Jersey, and Mrs. Leona Pressler, of California, both veterans of the 1932 Curtis Cup concluded in England, punched out the United States victory—a two-up decision over Miss Diana Plumptre and Miss Wanda Morgan.

The singles tomorrow will send Miss Van Wile against Miss Plumptre, Miss Orcutt against Miss Gourlay, Miss Cheney against Miss Barton, Miss Glutting against Miss Morgan, Mrs. Hill against Miss Plumptre, and Mrs. Amelia Goldsworthy, of Fort Worth, Texas, against Mrs. Walker.

The 1934 cricket season will be brought to a close tomorrow afternoon at Beacon Hill Park when the Albions, league champions, meet "The Rest" in a specially arranged exhibition fixture with the local proceeds being used to help wipe out the deficit created when the Eastern Canada eleven appeared here a few weeks ago. The champions are anxious to conclude their successful season with a win and will present a strong side for tomorrow's game. Their opponents, selected from the other clubs in the league, will present a well-balanced eleven, and one that should be capable of giving the Albions plenty of opposition.

The Albions team will be as follows: N. F. Pitt, captain; Barclay, Walton, Gibbons, Smith, Knox, D. Pitt, Leach, Maurice, P. Freeman and E. D. Freeman.

ST. LOUIS STARTS FINAL SERIES BY DOWNING REDS, 8-5

Keenest National League Race in History Nearing Close—Slade's Erratic Play Gives Cards Lead in First Frame—Giants Are Idle Until Tomorrow—Rowe Driven From Hill

NATIONAL LEAGUE
ST. LOUIS, Sept. 27 (AP).—St. Louis Cardinals whittled New York Giants' National League lead down to a half-game today, by defeating the last-place Cincinnati Reds, 8-5, in a game which saw very little baseball of championship calibre.

The Giants, who had an open date, were unable to defend their lead. As a result of this combination of affairs in the keenest championship race in the circuit in years, the Cards have an opportunity to tie for the lead tomorrow, when they play the Reds again and New York has another day of idleness. That would put the ultimate decision up to the last two days of the season, when they both get into action again, the Giants facing Brooklyn and the Cards still encountering Cincinnati.

A "blow-up" by Gordon Slade, Cincinnati shortstop, right at the start, was the deciding factor in today's struggle. The first three plays in the Cardinal half of the opening inning went his way and he made errors on all three of them. That gave St. Louis its first run and upset Paul Derringer, who had yielded three hits and the Cards had five runs before the inning ended. The rest of the way they had a fight on their hands to protect that lead, as Lefty Bill Walker wilted under a Cincinnati attack in the fifth and sixth innings and finally was removed when the Reds stopped just one run short of a tie.

At this danger point the Cards came through with a counter-attack against the Cincinnati which netted three tallies, the last on Joe Medwick's seventeenth homer of the season, and settled the game.

GOLF FACTS NOT THEORIES!

By ALEX MORRISON

It's a bad habit, that of allowing a ball to remain near the hole in your line of vision. It's bound to affect your aim. Your eye is taken with any bright object. Certainly the glossy white ball is more conspicuous than the cup.

You may not realize it as you putt, but the ball has been seen and remains in your mind as you swing your putter.

Invariably, your putt will roll toward the ball. Very often I've seen putts actually strike a ball over a foot off the proper line to the cup.

It's only a small thing, but it can cost you a win.

Notice the expert next time he goes to putt. He carefully picks up any little object which might take his eye off the line.

There's a reason.

ADA MACKENZIE DETHRONED AS CANADIAN CHAMP

Eliminated by Mrs. Gouinlock 3 and 2 In Startling Upset

Toronto Veteran Drops Second Title Within Fortnight to Townmate After Spectacular Battle—Mrs. Vera Ford Disposes of Mrs. Mulqueen on Last Green—Final Set Today

By EDWIN B. JOHNSON
Associated Press Staff Writer.
SCARBORO GOLF CLUB, Toronto, Sept. 27 (CP)—The quiet has been dethroned. In a startling upset over Scarborough's wind-swept course today, Miss Ada Mackenzie, Toronto, saw the crown she has worn for the past three years as Canadian ladies' close golf champion, topple from her brow before the determined assault of Mrs. R. W. Gouinlock, also of Toronto. The victory came to Mrs. Gouinlock on the sixteenth green by a 3 and 2 margin in the semi-final of the event.

As a result of her spectacular triumph, Mrs. Gouinlock qualified to meet Mrs. C. B. Ford, of Vancouver, B.C., winner of the title in 1924, in the eighteen-hole final tomorrow afternoon.

Mrs. Ford continued her steady advance with a two up decision over Mrs. J. J. Mulqueen, third of the Toronto semi-finalists.

The blustery conditions had a demoralizing effect on the play of Mrs. Ford and Mrs. Mulqueen in the early stages of their duel, but the Pacific Coast star's slight advantage in iron play gave her a slim lead of one hole at the turn. Tripe into deep traps, rough and winding creek which had the unhappy knack of attracting wayward shots, cost both players many strokes. Pairs were elusive with the result that Mrs. Ford required a 46 to cover the first nine, and her opponent one stroke more.

Both failed to shake the erratic spell on the 54-yard tenth, where Mrs. Mulqueen's six was good enough to square the match. But from then on it was a different story, with the pair unleashing a torrid drive for supremacy which was only broken on the sixteenth in Mrs. Ford's favor.

Holding the honor at this hole, Mrs. Mulqueen partly topped her drive, and the ball scooted across the fairway into a deep ravine. She played out boldly but caught a bunker with her second, and then in an attempt to blast out, oversteered the grip. She finally got on the "carpet" in four, while Mrs. Ford was on with a perfect iron and down in the regulation two putts, to gain the edge.

The seventeenth was halved in Mrs. Ford's favor.

Loses Second Title In Two Weeks

ADA MACKENZIE

AMOUS Toronto golfer, who was deprived of her second crown within a fortnight yesterday, when she bowed to Mrs. Gouinlock, a townmate, in the semi-finals of the Canadian women's closed championship, 3 and 2. Last week, Miss Mackenzie lost her Dominion open title to Mrs. Alex Stirling Fraser, of Ottawa, at the thirty-eighth hole. In the other semi-final match yesterday, Mrs. Vera Ford, Vancouver, won from Mrs. Mulqueen, Toronto, 2 up. The Mainlander is favored to lift the crown.

ent record, as he won out by over half a lap.

DATES GIVEN FOR FIXTURES
Giants and Cards to Play-Off Next Week If It Is Necessary

NEW YORK, Sept. 27 (AP).—President John Heydler, of the National League, today announced plans for a three-game series to decide the circuit's pennant race, if New York Giants and St. Louis Cardinals are tied at the end of the regular season on Sunday.

The first game will be played in St. Louis, Tuesday, October 2. The second game will be at New York, Wednesday, and the third, if necessary, also at the Polo Grounds, Thursday.

President Heydler said he also would request Commissioner K. M. Landis for a day or two of rest before starting the world series in Detroit. If granted, the series would start either Friday or Saturday, October 5 or 6. The receipts of the play-off series will be split between the two contending clubs.

ROYAL CITY LADS SWAMP WELLINGTONS

Salmonbellies Trounce Winnipeg Lacrosse Team With Ease, 33-5

NEW WESTMINSTER, B.C., Sept. 27 (CP).—New Westminster Salmonbellies smashed their way into the Dominion box lacrosse final for the Mann Cup, with an overwhelming 33-5 victory over Winnipeg Wellingtons here tonight. It was Salmonbellies' second straight victory in the two-out-of-three series for the Western Canada title. They won the first game Thursday night, at Vancouver, 12-8. Led by diminutive Alf Davy, ice home player, Salmonbellies turned what started out as a tight lacrosse battle into a complete rout for the visitors before the first quarter was five minutes old. Davy whirled his way through the hard-wearing defence of the Wellingtons to net the ball twelve times—eight times unassisted. Salmonbellies went into the lead in the first four minutes of the opening quarter, netting twice to once for the visitors. Then the dazzling speed of the Royal City attack swept the Winnipeggers back, and when the quarter was over, Salmonbellies had a six-goal advantage.

HOLDS BIG LEAD
Salmonbellies kept up the furious pace in the second, scoring ten more goals while Wellingtons were held to two, and the Coast squad left the floor at half-time with a 17-3 lead. The third quarter was even more disastrous to the visitors. They were held scoreless, while Salmonbellies added nine more goals to swell their total to twenty-six. Not content with their already overwhelming lead, Salmonbellies drove home three goals to start the final quarter before Wellingtons were able to get past Henry Baker in the New Westminster net for a single marker. Four more goals slipped into the Winnipeg net in the next four minutes, before the visitors broke into the scoring again for the final tally of the game.

Line-ups follow:
Wellingtons—Goal, McNaughton; defence, Shusky, Kenyon; rover, Harding; centre, Lawrence; forwards, McLaren, Neil, Spares-Clark, Ulyot, Penwarden, McGrath, Hammond, Hart.
Salmonbellies—Goal, H. Baker; defence, Anderson, Vernon; rover, R. Baker; centre, S. Joseph; forwards, Atkinson, Lewis, Spares-Clark, Ulyot, Penwarden, McGrath, Wood, Patchell.

SUMMARIES
First quarter—1, New Westminster, R. Baker, 1:40; 2, New Westminster, Vernon (A. Davy), 2:18; 3, Wellingtons, Hart (Clark), 1:30; 4, New Westminster, R. Baker, 1:29.

Organization of Women's Five-Pin League Planned

Organization of a women's fivepin league will be discussed at a meeting of fair sex bowlers to be held at the Arcade Alleys, Port Street, next Monday evening at 8 o'clock. A large number of women trundlers have been bowling at the alleys and it is hoped to form a four or six-team league. All bowlers interested in the formation of such a league are invited to attend.

Bing Miller to Quit Athletics

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 27 (AP).—Bing Miller, the rugged outfielder who batted the 1929 world's baseball championship into Connie Mack's lap, is leaving the Athletics with the end of the 1934 campaign. In the winning run of the world's series of five years ago, made that statement concerning himself, today, and said also that Eddie Rymel, veteran pitcher on the A's former championship aggregation, is going to leave the club at the same time. Although on the active list, he confined his services since the start of this season mostly to coaching on the first-base line and to his duties as team captain. His immediate plans were not disclosed.

Virginia Vane Says:

UNTIDINESS A SERIOUS PROBLEM—HAS WRECKED MANY HOMES—IMPROPER CHILDHOOD TRAINING OFTEN CAUSE OF FAULT

Dear Virginia Vane: I have been personally interested in the discussion of tidiness in your column. While fully sympathizing with those who have to put up with housekeepers of the "Craig's wife" type—particularly since I have one in my own family—I still have something to say on the other side. I am a business woman whose roommate considers housework beneath her. I like her so well that I should not consider changing for this reason, and I cannot afford to live alone, but there are some moments in our life together when I have to hang on to my temper with both hands. Every day I make her bed, pick up cosmetics which she has left on my dresser, put away clothing, and when I get tired of seeing dirty stockings hanging on chairs, I wash them for her. This is probably very foolish of me, because while doing her work I feel vaguely resentful about it, but I think I am happier living in a comparatively neat apartment with my little resentment. At least I don't show that I am annoyed, so that it doesn't strain our relationship. She is charmingly grateful and abject about the situation, and sometimes has bursts of contrite energy during which she scrubs the bathroom, but habit is too strong and she soon relapses into blissful disorder. I don't blame her for this habit which has been bred in her, but at the same time it seems unnecessary that I should do her work and soothe her sometimes with suppressed rage, when by a very slight expenditure of time, she could eliminate the problem. You see, she had a mother who did all those little things for her all her life—washing and darning and picking up—so that she acquired a very strong habit of untidiness. Don't you think that is a stupid way to bring up a child?—E. M.

Thank you, E. M., for your interesting letter. Yes, I do think that is an unfortunate way to bring up a child. Even if it gives the mother satisfaction, she cannot hope to continue such thoughtful attentions always. Sooner or later the child who cannot wash stockings will be cast out on the cruel world, and usually the people who have to live with such privileged children are less tolerant than you, E. M. I have seen marriages broken up over apparently trivial details of petty unmade beds and undarned socks. As you say, it is completely unnecessary. It must be only selfish indulgence on the part of a mother to allow her child to grow up helpless in the face of such simple details of life as stockings. I know another marriage in which the wife preferred to throw her stockings away—although they had very little money—rather than wash or mend them.

Mothers—do, by all that's holy, see that your daughters know how to make beds and wash stockings. Don't assume that they will marry millionaires. I am arguing only for a normal attitude on this subject. Excessive untidiness and helplessness about housework is just as bad as a fanatical devotion to cleanliness.

REGARDING HUSBAND'S AFFECTIONS

Emily: Usually it is the husband who complains that his wife's love seems to be transferred to the children, but, although your problem is in reverse, my advice will be the same. If possible, find the cause of this abnormal situation. It may be due to an unconscious attitude or series of actions on your part. Have you been so absorbed by the children yourself that your husband has been forced to defensive imitation of your devotion? Or is he of a more demonstrative disposition than you, and have you unconsciously checked his indications of affection, so that he has turned to the children for outlet? If so, you should encourage the little attentions that he wants to show you, even if it necessitates dropping handkerchiefs for him to pick up. Perhaps you have been too independent and self-sufficient. Most men like to feel that they are supporting a not-too-sturdy vine. While you don't actually have to cling, you might try leaning a little. But, of course, I am only guessing at possible causes. I should like to hear more of the details. Good luck.

REGULAR SLEEPING HOURS MAY HELP CHILD

Mrs. D.: You say your nine-year-old boy is pale, cross, and has a poor appetite, and you mention taking him to the movies at night. Does that happen often, and is his bedtime irregular? If so, you need look no further for the cause of his poor health. You won't have to take him to a doctor. Try sending him to bed every night at eight, and getting him up at the same hour every morning. Surely his health is more important than your going to the movies at night. You can go in the afternoon.

It may be that people fail to realize how important regular hours and plenty of sleep are in maintaining children's health. Once that is fully understood—and any doctor or medical book will tell you the same thing—it becomes the most reprehensible kind of selfishness to keep a child up late at night. If you value his health above your pleasure, then you will let no parties or movies interfere with his getting to bed early and regularly every night.

Besides his poor health, he will begin to fail in his school work. No child can stay up until midnight and then concentrate on arithmetic at nine o'clock the next morning. If he fails in school for this reason, you will begin to think he is a backward child, and—what is more important—he will begin to think so, too. Failure to be promoted in school will give him a dangerous mental attitude toward his own capabilities that he may never be able to overcome all his life long.

I hope these late hours are a rare occurrence. Children under ten should never be kept up late, and their health will break if adults are ignorant or selfish enough to ignore this truth.

F. D. L.: Thank you for your interesting letter. I cannot pretend to advise you on this point, as it raises a legal question, but I should like to print it in full some time soon, in order to ask my other readers to contribute their opinions. It is a problem which I think has not received enough attention.

How It Started

By JEAN NEWTON

"A BALAAM'S ASS"

This is an expression that has come down to us through several thousand years, indicating metaphorically a servant or employee who is wiser and sees further than the employer.

As in the case with so many idioms in the English language, we have this one from the Bible, in the twenty-second chapter of the Book of Numbers, in which is set forth the full story of Balaam and his ass.

As some of our readers may have forgotten, Balaam, mounted on his ass, sets forth for the plains of Moab, contrary to the wishes of God.

Three times does Balaam's ass stop en route, indicating to his master the inadvisability of continuing with the journey, and, in the process, saves his master's life.

It is from this incident that we have the allusion in the phrase "A Balaam's Ass."

SEA LIONS SURPRISE TOWN

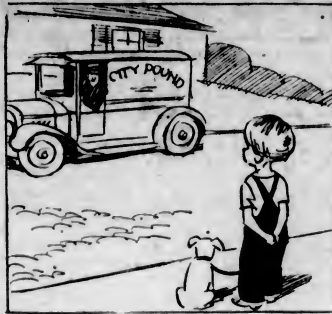

MAPLETON, Ore.—Sea lions today surprised residents of this mountain village. They came up the full story of Balaam and his ass.

GOITRE

You are hearing and reading a great deal about the thyroid gland, situated in the front of the neck.

It is known as a ductless gland, as it hasn't any duct or tube carrying its juice into the blood, whereas the liver and pancreatic gland have ducts which carry their digestive juices—bile and pancreatic juices—into the small intestine to help digest the food and prepare it to be absorbed into the blood.

As the thyroid has no duct the blood simply gathers up the juice of the thyroid as it passes through it.

Now if there is not enough of this juice or if there is too much of it, the individual will look and act differently from one who has the normal amount of iodine.

For instance, if there is not enough thyroid juice in a youngster, the bones do not develop properly, and in severe cases the youngster is a dwarf and often an idiot.

In simple goitre no treatment is necessary as a rule; in a few cases a little rest and iodine is all that is needed.

In the severe type of goitre where rest and iodine fail to give results, the use of the X-ray, radium, and the removal of part of the gland are forms of treatment that have proved successful.

For instance, if there is not enough thyroid juice in a youngster, the bones do not develop properly, and in severe cases the youngster is a dwarf and often an idiot.

In simple goitre no treatment is necessary as a rule; in a few cases a little rest and iodine is all that is needed.

In the severe type of goitre where rest and iodine fail to give results, the use of the X-ray, radium, and the removal of part of the gland are forms of treatment that have proved successful.

Now if there is not enough of this juice or if there is too much of it, the individual will look and act differently from one who has the normal amount of iodine.

FUEL OIL TAX RECOMMENDED

Ladysmith Council Endorses Resolution Passed at Nanaimo City

LADYSMITH, Sept. 27.—Much of the time at the regular council meeting, last evening, was occupied with reading and consideration of resolutions from various municipalities, which will be submitted at the annual convention of British Columbia Municipalities at Kamloops, on October 23.

Mayor Walkem called the council's attention to a resolution passed by the Nanaimo City Council, which called for legislation providing a fuel oil tax on imported foreign oils, to help the local coal industry, which continued in a depressed state. The Mayor was of the opinion that the matter was of paramount importance to Ladysmith and district, and he submitted the same resolution to the council, which unanimously endorsed the proposal.

The council was notified that Ladysmith's share of the motor licences was $1,580. Unfortunately, however, the same communication conveyed the information that deductions for social services for the city had more than swallowed up that amount, so the council grimly received and filed the letter. "Gentlemen," suggested Mayor Walkem smilingly, "is one of those 'blank cheques'."

SUGGESTED IMPROVEMENT

J. King, N. M. Foulkes and P. Vandecasteyen attended as a delegation from the committee publicly appointed to report on improvement in Market Square. A written report was read, proposing a system of grading and terracing that would create an ideal playing ground in front of the High School, with reserved sections for band concerts and forms of open-air public recreation. It is further suggested that the present steep grade on High Street, from First to Third Avenue, be cut off, and a diagonal grade be run from the Bank of Commerce to connect with Third Avenue at Dr. A. T. Verch's residence.

Speaking on the report submitted, J. King stated the improvements suggested were, no doubt, long overdue. Market Square has often been considered, but never dealt with. Now a comprehensive plan had been prepared, and he hoped it would be carried to completion. With the grading and terracing proposed, he felt confident Ladysmith could have an ideal sports ground in the heart of the city. N. M. Foulkes and P. Vandecasteyen spoke in similar terms. Mr. King added in the later discussion, that it was proposed to finance the work by public subscription, without recourse to new taxation on the citizens. The council was invested with the ownership of the property, and it would be necessary to realign the title basis, before actual work could proceed. It was finally decided that a joint meeting of the council and the Market Square committee should be held at an early date to arrange details.

Fulfills Wager Lost on Election

Because he picked the wrong candidate in Arizona's gubernatorial race, Earl Proctor, Phoenix, Arizona, pharmacist, was forced to pay an election wager by crawling on his hands and knees for six blocks into the heart of the Phoenix business district with the mercury at 102 in the shade. Harold Davis, Phoenix service station operator, who won the wager, is pictured leading Proctor on a leash. Proctor is carrying a sign announcing: "This is what Doc Moeur (the winning candidate) did to me."

CHAPTER XXIII

The United League owners and their managers met in New York. Pop Clark asked Terry to keep himself on call in case he needed him later.

"Now, gentlemen," the czar began, "we know why we are here. I know it is generally believed that the purpose of this series of murders is to have the Blues win the pennant. I understand a great deal of money has been placed on the Blues to win. I will amend that. As money and betting go, the amount is small, but the odds were so great when the bets were placed that the winnings, if the Blues do win the pennant, will be tremendous. There may be other reasons for these crimes. They may be private grudges which are being settled by individuals using the Blues as a cloak to cover them. There is another point. We, collectively, may have an enemy who would like to see the United League ruined. This league has had the best season in its history, but I know and you know that the gaffer this year has been tremendous simply because the public is bloodthirsty, seeking new sensations. The question is, can we continue to play? Will the men go on playing with this shadow hanging over their heads? This meeting was caused by the withdrawal of one player prominent in the game. This is an emergency that must be met. If we are to go on, the morale of the men must be kept up. Have you any ideas, any suggestions to make?"

"If you please," Pop Clark, last of the owner-managers, stood up. "I believe, to my sorrow, that these crimes are connected with my team. Gentlemen, we have played and fought together for many years and I do not want you to spare my feelings in any way. If taking the Blues out of the game will prevent these crimes, I am ready and willing to withdraw my team."

Before Pop could sit down Bullard, the Chicago owner, was on his feet. "Mr. Chairman, I think all the members of this meeting feel as I do, and it is that Pop Clark has nothing to do with these atrocities. We can't let the Blues withdraw. The fate of baseball is at stake. For years we have represented clean sport. These crimes have made our sport the talk of the world. We, all of us, are being victimized, we are being used by racketeers. We all know that there have been fixed fights, wrestling matches and horse races, but we don't want this stigma to tarnish us irreparably for the future. We must fight this thing, fight it to a finish, and gentlemen, we must win so that a like situation will never arise again in baseball."

When he sat down, Basher, the Detroit owner, who had been called back from a fishing trip in Northern Michigan, rose. "Turner tells me the members of our team feel that a game with the Blues is a death warrant for one of our men. Penny, who was our star, quit. It is not unreasonable to suppose that Penny would have been the next on the list. The fear of right this thing, fight it to a finish, and gentlemen, we must win so that a like situation will never arise again in baseball."

"We must get to the source of the crimes and stop them once and for all," Basher replied. "We must call in the police."

"Boston was a little luckier," Cabell, the Boston owner, remarked. "Lucky is right," Hallem, of Cleveland, entered the discussion. "If that young reporter what's-his-name hadn't had his eyes open the Boston police would have been as helpless as the rest."

"No matter what you may think of the police, they are our only hope." The czar was speaking again. "Without the police we can do nothing."

"We need the police," Pop Clark agreed. "They have the weight, the means and the power to do the things we need."

"Are you, gentlemen, in accord with Clark's sentiments?" the chairman asked.

The men agreed that, as useless as the police seemed, they were the only people who could be expected to be of any material help.

"Unless there is something else you want to say in confidence, I would like to ask Detective Kelly in now." The chairman waited, but there was no discussion.

Formalities over, the questions started pouring at him.

After several minutes of rapid-fire questioning, Kelly put up his hand. "Just a minute, gentlemen. I know no more about this case than you do. Let me review what has happened." He began at the beginning and took up each event as it had occurred. Terry's name kept coming up in his recital.

"It would seem that this Burke person has been in at the killing of the men except Rawlins," Bullard remarked. "Are you sure he is above suspicion?"

"Burke was in the hall when Rawlins' body was discovered," Huette, Rawlins' assistant, said. "Burke softened it, then, the chairman cut in. 'He had very little to say about it as an eyewitness.'"

"How would you feel if you were Burke? With the cops after you on one side and a bunch of crooks on the other?" Kelly asked. "That lad is on the level, I'm sure of it."

"To am I?" Pop Clark said with a nod of understanding toward Kelly. "He has told you all he knows. I'm convinced of that. There is nothing to know."

"I think Burke is our one hope," Kelly's remark was greeted with surprise.

"Because he's being hounded by the gang. That's obvious," Kelly then went on to tell them in strictest confidence of the attack on Terry in his rooms and also the attempt to kidnap him in St. Louis, which he was clever enough to escape.

"I wouldn't want to be in his shoes," Treddie, of Philadelphia, entered the general conversation for the first time.

"It's not too healthy," Kelly admitted, "but I still think he is our one hope. They are afraid of Burke. They are afraid of a leak in their own outfit. They can't understand how and why he should always be on the scene when one of these crimes is committed, any more than I could at first. I believe Burke, but they don't. The attempt to get him in St. Louis proves that they are still doubtful about him. They are probably watching him all the time and know every move he makes."

"Then you think we might get the sort of clue through Burke, that is, by having him watched, you mean?" Althome asked.

"I've had him covered for weeks now," Kelly said resentfully. "I know every move he makes. He is in the lobby now, or was when I came up."

"That is my fault," Pop Clark spoke up. "I asked him to come East with me and to hold himself in readiness. I had a feeling that
